ASK POST OFFICE BIDS

EXPECT THOUSANDS TO HEAR HOOVER HERE

President To Speak Briefly While In City

Hoover To Make Short Address From Train At B. & O. Station

STOPS HERE ABOUT 4:30 P. M. SATURDAY

Plans Being Made For Brief Program—Expect Thousands In Crowd

For the first time in many years, probably the first time in the history of the country the President of the United States will make an address in New Castle. Saturday afternoon, October 15, when the Presidential Special stops at the Seventh ward station of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, President Herbert Hoover will deliver a five minute address to the citizens who assemble there.

This word was received from State Chairman of the Republican Party, Edward Martin late Thursday afternoon.

Because thousands will undoubtedly want to see and hear the president, special arrangements are being made. County Chairman George T. Weingartner is endeavoring to have an amplifying system installed so that the president may be heard by everyone.

Gather In Park

The westbound track of the Baltimore and Ohio runs along the edge of the park in the Seventh ward and here the citizens will be asked to gather. It would be dangerous to permit such a crowd to crowd the tracks of the B. & O. and the P. & L. E. inasmuch as other trains might run them down.

The view from the park is unobstructed, there is no danger of accidents and the arrangement is being made to mass the crowd in this park area. State Highway patrolmen will be asked to assist in caring for the crowd, Mayor Mayne will be asked for a detail of city police and the B. & O. will have its police officers present to see that nobody gets out onto the tracks and runs a chance of injury or death.

President Hoover and his party are expected in New Castle at approximately 4:30 Saturday afternoon. The train will probably have about five coaches and the plan is to stop the train so that the rear car will be on the viaduct over Liberty street. From here the president can see the crowd and with the amplifying system it is thought that his voice can be carried to the edges of the crowd.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

New Castle residents, returning from visits to different parts of the country during the past week, report that sentiment is rapidly changing with regard to the presidential elections. In sections where there was strong Roosevelt sentiment a couple of months ago, a strong trend to Hoover is now in evidence. The people are evidently doing some serious thinking.

South side has a fine quartet which gives concerts on one of the street corners several nights a week, Pa Newc is told. Last night the singers specialized on hill-billy songs and had an appreciative audience.

From the looks of the windows of a store on the public square, there was some Hallowe'eners on the streets last night. A cake of soap was used to streak up the glass.

Fred Gray of the Harbor road added another fine specimen to the

Supervisors Will Have Convention Without Expense

Delegates Will Not Accept Pay For Attending Sessions

Likewise, No Paid Speakers Will Be Secured—Real Economy Move

Acting under the theory that economy like charity begins home, the Lawrence County Township supervisors will hold their convention this year but will not accept the money due them from the county. Neither will they spend any money for out of town speakers for the convention.

This rather unusual action came Thursday evening when the supervisors met in the Court House to talk over preliminary plans for the annual convention. The subject was first broached by Dr. Frederick Taylor a supervisor of Pulaski township who said, "this year Lawrence County needs every cent it can muster for relief. If we come in and hold our convention every supervisor and auditor is entitled to a compensation of four dollars per day, and the total cost of the convention to the county will run up-

HARRRISBURG, Oct. 14.—Effective tomorrow, all motor vehicles transporting persons or merchandise for compensation from other states into Pennsylvania must carry Pennsylvania license tags. Their operators also must carry Pennsylvania cards.

LARGE PHEASANT SEEKS KNOWLEDGE

Imagine the astonishment of the persons seated in the office at Rose Avenue School Thursday afternoon when they heard one of the windows crash in and a large hen pheasant drop into the room.

The pheasant lay on the floor for almost three quarters of an hour, apparently stunned by its impact with the window and, as the occupants of the office were deciding what to do with the fowl it started up quickly and flew out the same hole it had made in coming into the building.

New Wilmington Citizens Offer Bandit Reward

Stirred by the dastardly shooting of Fred Williamson, well known merchant of New Wilmington, the citizens of New Wilmington are offering a reward of $500 for information which will lead to the arrest and capture of the bandit who did the shooting.

A committee of citizens consisting of Postmaster C. B. White, A. W. Thompson and Jas A.. Pitzer made the announcement today and the formal offer of reward is carried in the advertising columns of the News today.

Williamson was shot down Saturday night in his store when a bandit came in and demanded the day's receipts which Williamson was just putting away. Mr. Williamson attempted to grapple with the bandit whereupon he shot him.

County To Get Ten More Miles Of Good Roads

State Improvement Of 9.88 Miles Of Road To Be Started Here

COUNTY'S PORTION OF STATE PROGRAM

Will Provide Considerable Work—Roads Not Designated Yet

Under the allocation of moneys from the state for further highway improvement, Lawrence county will get 9.88 miles of new road which will be started within the next ten days, according to H. F. Lightner, county superintendent of highways.

Several days ago the state highway department announced that $2,000,000 of Reconstruction Finance corporation money had been allocated for highways and that a program of new roads, supplementary to those already built this year, would be started. The first program gives Lawrence county the 9.88 miles mentioned above, and in addition there are two further programs which will be started when money is made available.

Coming as it does just as the 1932 highway work in the county is drawing to a close, it means considerable work for unemployed and more good roads for the county.

The road to New Wilmington and the Pulaski-Bedford road will be ready for travel about November 1, Mr. Lightner said today and the other roads under construction are also about done.

Most of the money on the new road program will be for labor. Little of the labor will be done by machinery, the bulk of it being hand labor.

Paving Machine Badly Damaged

Probe Vandalism On Machinery Of West Pittsburg Road Contractor

POLICE OFFICIALS HUNT OFFENDERS

Sabotage is suspected in the damaging of road machinery of the D. W. Challis company which occurred Thursday night on the West Pittsburg road which is being built by the company. A huge road paver was put out of commission and an air compressor badly damaged by vandals sometime during the night. Fortunately the paving machine is not yet in use and the damage can be repaired before it is necessary.

The paving machine is a huge affair costing $13,000 when new. On it the vandals broke off the carbeurator, smashed ff the spark plugs, bent the levers controlling the operations of the machine, knocked the plug off the crank case and let the oil run out, poured sand into

Hoover Suffers Injured Hand In Capital Ceremony

President After Shaking Hands With 3,000 Persons, Has Injured Ring Finger

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—In spite of a bruised hand and a slightly cut ring finger, President Hoover this morning took active part in the early morning session of his "medicine ball cabinet."

The president's hand remained somewhat sore following last night's reception for the judiciary, ushering in the White House social season.

After shaking hands with nearly 3,000 guests, the president and the first lady excused themselves, on the advice of the White House physician, and retired to their own chambers, with 1,200 guests still in the reception line.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, the president's physician, said he advised Mr. Hoover to retire from the handshaking line, after it was noticed that a ring which Mr. Hoover wore, had cut into the flesh of his finger.

LIMA, Oct. 14.—Colombia, Ecuador and Peru today.

Lima, Peru, is the oldest city in the western world. It's worth a trip alone.

Flew across the equator this morning. The Pan - American Grace Line hands you a diploma or certificate proving you have been across the line.

An old man at a little Peruvian village where we stopped for gas today came up to me and said, "Did you hear Calvin's speech last night on the radio?" Here I have had a fine radio and never got outside of Los Angeles county.

Well, the race must be getting hot if they have drafted Calvin. I'll bet Calvin will be all broke up when he hears he wasted his speech on people away down here that can't vote.

Three Mentioned By Lad In Rambling Talk Are Held In Jail

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 14—That little Billy Tressler knows who attempted to batter him to death after brutally killing his grandmother, mother and sister was strongly indicated today by the subconscious actions of the nine-year-old tousled-haired boy.

Twice during the night as he lay on a hospital cot, his body wracked with pain from the blows of an axe in the hands of a fiend, Billy roused and cried out:

"Don't hit me."

He attempted to shield his face with his arms as he spoke.

Living Over Crime.

Police are convinced Billy was living over again in his subconscious mind those horrible minutes of last Tuesday night just before he was beaten over the head by the killer who had fatally injured Mrs. Amanda Harden, 62, his grandmother;

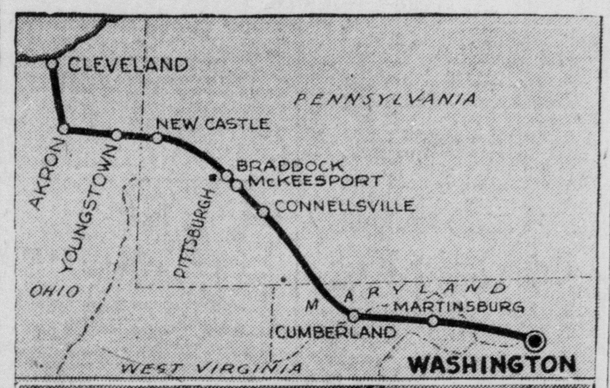
Where President's Train Stops



Eight rear platform speeches are scheduled for President Hoover along the itinerary of his trip from Washington to Cleveland, where he delivers his second campaign address, Saturday. Leaving Washington the same morning he returns to the capital immediately following his Cleveland appearance Saturday night. Map shows the eight towns at which the president's special stops.

Former New Castle Man Oldest Voter In Cleveland; Firm Supporter Of Hoover

Robert A. Hubbard, for many years a resident of this city, having conducted a watch repair shop and jewelry establishment on East Washington street during the more recent years, prior to moving to Cleveland, O., is one hundred years old and has registered in Cleveland to cast his ballot in November for Hoover.

He cast his first vote in a presidential election for John C. Fremont in 1856 and has been voting ever since. In today's issue of a Cleveland paper, there appears on the front page a picture of Mr. Hubbard registering at the city hall in that city, so that he might vote November 8. He is the oldest elector on the rolls of the board of election in that city.

Mr. Hubbard, who resides in Cleveland with his daughters, Miss Etta R. Hubbard and Mrs. Amy Hubbard Pfitsch, spent the greater part of his life in this city. He is a veteran of the Civil War, being probably one of the oldest survivors of that war now living.

Over Two Million Qualified To Vote In Pennsylvania

Registration This Year But Slightly Under That Of 1928 Presidential Election

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 14—The number of Pennsylvanians qualified to vote next month may be almost as great as that four years ago despite a 14 per cent decrease in the registration in cities.

This was indicated today with receipt of reports from 51 of the 67 counties in the state, showing a distinct trend of the voting power to the rural districts. The increased enrollment in the small towns and communities has virtually made up for the urban decrease.

Fifty-one counties report a registration of 2,045,135 as compared with 2,049,774 in the same districts four years ago. Among the cities, Harrisburg is the only one to show an increase over its 1928 registration.

Nearing Close Of City Revival

Four More Services To Be Conducted In Tabernacle Here

GREAT RESULTS BEING ACHIEVED

Four more meetings will be held in the tabernacle tent, South Mill street, in the city-wide revival campaign which has been waged in the city the past four weeks.

This evening the sermon topic will be "The Challenge of the Gospel" and Saturday evening "The Greatest Fact in History". Sunday there will be two mass meetings, at 3 in the afternoon and the final service will be held Sunday evening at 7:30.

The high school students of Mt. Jackson will occupy the reserved section this evening.

The city-wide revival, which has been held in the city the past four weeks is fast drawing to a close and as the last services are held, each night sees many going to the prayer room. The last four meetings will be intensive.

The song service was especially rousing Thursday evening with men of the choir singing "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning" and Mr. McKee singing "Sunrise" as a solo.

DeLace Cole made the appeal to the audience for the funds to be given to Dr. P. W. Philpott, the evangelist, who has brought such soul stirring messages to the people of the city. The offerings lifted this evening, Sunday afternoon and Sunday evening will be given to Dr. Philpott for his services. He receives no other remuneration.

Sermon of Evening.

Dr. Philpott again stirred his audience to the very depths of their souls Thursday evening as he read the scripture lesson from Matthew, 16th chapter and took his text from the 26th verse, "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

He explained that God had breathed into the nostrils of man end endowed him with a soul, making him

November 16 Is Date For Opening Post Office Bids

Treasury Department Issues Call For Bids For New Castle Building

EXPECT WORK WILL BE STARTED SOON

New Structure Will Be Erected On Site On Public Square

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—Bids for the construction of the New Castle, Pa., post office, which is to be erected on the Public Square there, were authorized today by the United States Treasury Department. The bids will opened on November 16, 1932.

The specifications call for the completion of the building within 430 calendar days after the contract is awarded, which means that the structure will be ready for use sometime in the spring of 1934, or possibly a little sooner.

The building will be constructed of limestone, according to the specifications, "except where granite is required."

Award Contract Soon

The contract will probably be awarded within a short period of time after the bids are opened, or as soon as the Treasury Department can tabulate the bids.

The New Castle post office project has been under way for a little more than a year, the site on the public square having been selected by the treasury department on September 29, 1931.

The original amount alloted for the purchase of the site and construction of the building was $525,000 which has been somewhat curtailed, due to a reduction in the appropriation. Approximately $125,000 was spent for the site.

CONFESS TO SLAYING OF CONSTABLE

Report Murder Case Is Solved

Pittsburgh Officers Say Pair Confess Slaying Of Constable

ONE OF GANG GIVES POLICE INFORMATION

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—The six-month-old murder of Constable Vernon P. Moses today had been solved, police said, by the confessions of two members of a bandit gang after they had been implicated by a third member of the mob.

Confessions have been obtained, according to police, from John Maug, said to be the leader of the mob, and C. J. Moyer. Edward Turpack, another suspected member of the gang, has admitted being with Maug and Moyer but denies participating in the slaying, police said.

Maug and Moyer were implicated with the crime when Erman Molden, one of Maug's lieutenants, "squealed" when police questioned him about five guns the gang is said to have admitted throwing into the river. Members of the mob, 12 in all, including two women, have been under arrest for several days and have admitted numerous sensational robberies here.

Constable Moses was killed when he sought to question three men in an automobile parked along the road side without lights last May.

wards of six hundred dollars. It is my opinion that we should abandon the convention for this year."

Hold It Gratis

F. E. Smith a supervisor of Shenango Township said he agreed thoroughly with Dr. Taylor's plan of economy but thought that the convention was important enough to warrant holding it. "But," said Mr. Smith, "why not hold it and refuse to take the money due us. Let it stay in the county treasury and help to provide relief this winter. I will move that we do this."

Dr. Taylor seconded the motion and the supervisors present passed it with an unanimous vote. This is the first time anything like this has been done but it is thought may lead to similar action upon the part of other officials who hold similar conventions.

Paul T. Martin of Altoona, associate editor of the Road Builder was present for the purpose of presenting the Williamson Bill to the supervisors. The bill was presented in the last special session and would have taken thirty million dollars from the State Highway funds to distribute to cities, boros and townships for them to use for road building and maintenance.

Mr. Martin asked for an endorsement of the bill but the supervisors would not take any action towards endorsing it until they have had an opportunity to study it further and decide whether or not it would hamper the work of the department if it were done.

display at The News office this morning when he brought in two large carrots grown in his garden. They totaled 3¼ pounds.

One of the Hallowe'en habits most complained of, especially by motorists, is that of boys taking cakes of soap and rubbing it on the windows, the metal parts of cars, etc. One of the victims this morning suggested that if some of the perpetrators were as busy using it in keeping themselves clean as they are in damaging other people's property, perhaps they would not have so much time to damage the property of others.

The seventh ward will probably be well decorated with national colors tomorrow, in honor of the brief visit of the president of the United States. Flags should be flying everywhere in the ward.

New Castle Hospital Drive Under Way; Extended One Week

Ladies In City Working Diligently On Drive For New Castle Hospital Here

In the drive started Monday, Oct. 10, for the local New Castle hospital with several groups of women working the districts, much has been accomplished.

While the women, each in their divided groups, have made the rounds and find the people are generously giving to this worthy cause, they feel it will be necessary to extend the drive over to next week in order to cover their territory entirely.

Mrs. Rachel Reynolds, president of the campaign club, states the work has been progressing splendidly.

the oil intake for the crank case, broke off the indicator and also broke off a number of small parts. The new parts necessary for this machine will cost approximately $100 Mr. Challis said.

Compressor Damaged

On the air compressor the vandals knocked off spark plugs, filled the crank case with sand and bent several mechanical parts. The damage to this machine is less than to the paver. Mechanics are already at work repairing this machine.

"I can think of no reason why this should have been done" said D. W. Challis. "We have had no trouble with our labor, we have employed men from the welfare lists furnished by local authorities, we have paid the rate demanded by the state and we have hired only married men. It may be that some disgruntled individual who thought he should have been given a job has attempted to vent his spleen in this manner. Previously we have lost gasoline and small tools but this is the first time in all our experience that we have had such a thing happen."

L. D. Harding was the watchman in the section where the air compressor was located. "There have been prowlers around for several nights he said, "but last night I saw no one around who looked suspicious. I did not see any one tamper with the air compressor and can think of no reason for any one doing it. John Stritzinger is the other watchman but there were no depradations in his district. The road paver was located in a spot where there was no watchman.

County Detective Lee and Assistant County Detective B. J. Rocks went down to the scene of the crimes today, accompanied by Corporal Lawton of the State Highway Patrol. Lee believes that either the damage was done by disgruntled employes who were laid off, by men who were not given work, or by youngsters out Hallowe'ening.

The damage will not delay the construction of the road a minute as the road paver had been placed merely to have it ready when concrete was to be poured. This will not be for ten days or two weeks yet.

BOY MAY GIVE CLUE IN TRIPLE MURDER MYSTERY

Mrs. Nellie Tressler, 28, his mother, and Sadie Tressler, 11, his schoolgirl sister—possibly while he looked on helplessly.

Billy's pitiful actions were revealed by police today shortly after it was learned they were pinning all their hopes of solution of the "hatchet slayings" on Billy's recovery. Every other clue, they admitted, had led them to a blank wall.

Boy Only Hope.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 14.—With every clue leading into a blank wall, police today pinned their hope of solving the triple "hatchet slaying" of a grandmother, mother and daughter here on tousled-haired youngster of nine who is fighting what appears to be a winning battle for life.

For the first time since his crumpled form was found in the dilapidated three-room home of his mother, Mrs. Nellie Tressler, Wednesday morning, physicians at Connellsville state hospital today gave little Billy Tressler a chance to live. Hospital reports said the boy was stronger and appeared to be recovering.

It is to Billy that police are looking now for a solution to the hideous slayings of his mother, his grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Harden, 62, and his school-girl sister, Sadie, 11.

Fingerprints Smeared.

Every other clue has failed to reveal the identity of the killer. Bloody fingerprints on the windowsill and fence at the house were too badly smeared to be of any value, it was revealed when pictures were made of them. An all day search for the murder weapon, believed to be an axe missing from the Tressler home, proved fruitless.

Police believe Billy may know who attempted to batter him to pieces after inflicting fatal injuries to the other three. Several times the boy has partially aroused from unconsciousness and related who visited his home the night of the murders. His stories all vary.

But with the optimistic hospital report of the lad's condition, Connellsville police are detailed to sit beside Billy's bed constantly, ready to take down anything he may say if he recovers sufficiently to be questioned.

Three in Jail.

Meanwhile, three men whose names Billy has mentioned during his semi-conscious ramblings are in custody in the Fayette county jail at Uniontown. They are Philip Renda, 48, identified as Mrs. Tressler's lover; Clyde Harden, 30, Mrs. Tressler's brother, and George Lohr, 30, reputed former lover of Billy's mother.

Renda admits having been at the Tressler home the night of the slaying. He told police all was peaceful at the little home when he left. Police are holding his two daughters, Rose and Margaret, because their story of when their father returned home differs with his.

Harden was arrested when he walked into the police station and asked for information about the killings. He said he had arrived "on the rods" from Cumberland, Md., where he had read of the slayings. Lohr has been quoted by police as admitting he was the father of a child born to Mrs. Tressler four years ago.

Says Two Men Responsible

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 14.—Near death from wounds inflicted in the "hatchet mystery" which brought death to his grandmother, mother and sister, nine-year-old Billy Tressler told police today that two men, one wielding an axe, inflicted the wounds he suffered.

He named the men, police said.

The boy told police he was the first to fall before the axe. Others who met death were his mother, Mrs. Nellie Tressler, 28; his grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Harden, 62, and his 11year-old sister, Sadie.

Three men are being held. They are Philip Renda, 48; George Lohr, 30, and Mrs. Tressler's brother, Clyde Harden, 30.

To Mothers whose children won't eat

NATURE knows best. Never coax a child to eat! Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite. When appetite fails, tongue is coated white, eyes are a bilious yellow, don't give small children a constipating cathartic that drains the system. California fig syrup is all the "medicine" they require.

The Child's Appetite Will Always Respond

Specialists will tell you that a sluggish appetite almost always means the child has a sluggish colon. Correct this condition called stasis, and see how quickly a listless, drooping boy or girl begins to eat—and gain! The only "medicine" such children seem to need is pure, unadulterated fig syrup.

Children who get fig syrup, now and then, soon have the appetite and energy of young animals! They keep well and avoid colds and sluggish spells.

Nature never made a finer laxative for children; and they all love the wholesome, fruity flavor of the real California fig syrup. It's purely vegetable, but every druggist has it all bottled, with directions. Begin with it at once. The very next day, your child will be eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the fig syrup a few days and see amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight, and spirits.

A single IF

The promises made by the bottlers of California Fig Syrup are true, and it will do the same for you, IF it's genuine CALIFORNIA Fig Syrup. Don't accept substitutes.

NEARING CLOSE OF CITY REVIVAL

different from the beasts He had also created. He made man in the image of God and expected him to walk a Godly path. If man die he shall live again was then taught by the coming of Jesus. We may die physically, but our soul goes on eternally . Jesus says this is enough to believe.

He gave some concrete examples of his statements as he preached and stated that if men did not believe in a Heavenly Being, the suicides of today would be multiplied by the thousands, but inwardly, all men are afraid of God.

God can put a new heart in every one and every soul can be saved if he will turn to the Savior and man cannot be neutral, he must either be one or the other; Christ wants the whole heart of man or none, and Dr. Philpott concluded with making a strong plea to the audience for those who had not given Jesus their whole healt to do so at once, and as the choir sang there were many took the step and went to the prayer room.

This evening services will be again held at 7:30, and it is anticipated that standing room will be at a premium for the remaining services of the revival.

'Vitamine Worry' Is Often Useless, Doctors Are Told

County Physicians Listen To Dr. J. O. Woods At Meeting In Y. M.

New Castle and Lawrence county housewives shouldn't fret about vitamines because in the ordinary daily food diets of most homes there's a normal quantity of them, according to Dr. J. O. Woods, this city, who addressed the Lawrence County Medical society in the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Dr. Woods spoke to one of the doctors' best-attended meetings of the past year. "Vitamines" was his subject.

Normal Diets Enough.

While Dr. Woods sounded a warning that a lack of vitamines would in time bring on different diseases and upset the health system, he added that "the ordinary balanced diets of families contain sufficient vitamines to keep the body functioning properly." He said eggs, milk, fruit, green vegetables and butter contain large quantities.

Tomatoes are more popular than oranges in the daily diet these days because of the difference in price, but tomatoes, cooked in in an open kettle, lose their vitamine supply, the speaker declared. Tomatoes cooked in a closed kettle retain that value.

Members listened to Dr. W. A. Womer, secretary and delegate to the recent Pittsburgh state medical convention, report the highspots of the sessions.

The medical fraternity here has also mapped a cooperative plan with the health committee of the Federation of Women's clubs, whereby school children here will receive medical examinations and treatment at their buildings. Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green is supporting the plan.

To Mark "Health Day".

President John Foster announced to the physicians that Dr. J. C. Funk, representative of the state's department of health, would deliver the chief "public health day" address here on October 26. A public program will be held in the senior high school auditorium with Dr. Funk, Dr Arthur W. Thomas of Youngstown and others here speaking. The city will be invited.

A program of school health talks to be given during the daytime on October 26 was announced, with Dr. W. L. Campbell scheduled for George Washington junoir high school, Dr. H. C. Harper for Ben Franklin and Dr. Womer for the senior high school.

"Accomplishments of the State Health Department in the Past Decade" will be Dr. Funk's theme at the evening program. The medical fraternity will attend enmasse.

Pearls and brilliants seem to have the center of the stage at present.

LIVING IN A GLASS HOUSE

IN SOME of his speeches Candidate Roosevelt has had a good deal to say about the "international bankers gypping the unsuspecting American public with worthless foreign securities," and has bitterly criticised the Hoover administration for its alleged failure to stop the international bankers from selling to the people foreign securities that were going to fall in value.

Gov. Roosevelt made those speeches early in his campaign. He has not made them since he visited San Francisco and was confronted there with an advertisement in the San Francisco Chronicle, reproduced from the files of that paper. This advertisement which originally appeared October 12, 1922, was headed "German Marks," and was inserted by "United European Investors, Ltd. Franklin D. Roosevelt President." The advertisement offered for sale to the investing public "Foreign Bonds and Moneys" either for cash or on the installment plan, and particularly referred to German Marks which were offered at a price of $200 for one million, and to German bonds, the buyers of which should "participate in the large earnings and dividends of German industries," etc.

So Gov. Roosevelt was at one time an "international banker" himself, and according to what he now says was one of those who should have been suppressed by the Government. And he was dealing in German marks and bonds in 1922 that were altogether the most worthless foreign securities ever foisted upon the American public. Within five months after this Roosevelt advertisement appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle, German marks, which the advertisement offered at $200 for one million, dropped to such a figure that it took50 BILLION marks to buy a loaf of bread in Germany. Chester H. Rowell, after seeing the reproduction of this Roosevelt advertisement in the Chronicle, wrote to the paper saying he was in Germany about the time the advertisement originally appeared, and that he had occasion to spend 2½ cents, American money, in a hotel. He tendered an American quarter and received 250,000,000,000 marks in change!

In other words, within a few months after the Roosevelt international banking company offered to sell German marks at $200 for a million, they had become worse than worthless.

Of course Gov. Roosevelt had no intention of "gypping" the unsuspecting American public. He did not know that the moneys and securities he was offering for sale were going to explode into thin air.

But in the light of his own experience would it not be fairer, not to say decenter, for the Democratic nominee to avoid charging other international banks with deliberate intent to rob the people, and to avoid using inuendoes and insinuations that virtually accused the Government of the United States of guilty participation in the robbery.

People who live in glass houses—!

CONFUSING LAWS

So little uniformity of laws is there among the states that the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws has hardly scratched the surface of the problem although its meeting this month marks the end of several years of intensive study by it.

The conference is dealing with legal questions as old as the common law and as new as the radio, aviation and cooperative marketing. Among its aims are uniform laws on aeronautics, airports, automobile liability, machine guns and narcotic drugs, and cooperative marketing. But it is also concerning itself with such prosaic things as mechanics' liens, wills, foreign corporations and the acknowledgment of instruments.

There never will be absolute uniformity of laws among the 48 states anymore than their climates will some day become uniform and for much the same reason, but there is no good excuse for many of the violations of uniformity. Some progress toward uniformity can be made and has been made.

Were there a national clearing house through which every legislative body and legislator could be kept constantly posted on bills pending and passed in other states there would be less justification for the present legislative babel and more effort to avoid confusion, conflict and contradiction. Usually when one state repeats the mistakes of another it is because it has not taken the trouble to inquire into the experience of its neighboring state.

RETURN OF ROMANTICISM

The reading public is getting tired of modern fiction and showing a revival of taste for the old atmosphere of clean romance and adventure. It hankers for the old romanticism and sentimentality.

It would be straining the argument to suggest that the current list of fiction most in demand gives definite indication that such is the case, yet there are many traces of such a tendency. They are observable in books, magazine stories, the movies and on the stage.

It was certain to come—this swing back toward the world of illusion, peopled by folk who could not have lived to grow up in real life, and who act as nobody alive ever acted. After a reign of realism there is bound to be a sharp reaction against being offered unretouched photographs instead of paintings.

Most people get enough of grime and misery in their own lives without reading books full of them. Reading stories of life as it might be, even though life will never be that way, is a relief and the craving for them is natural and sensible.

Realism is a welcome relief from romanticism, but romanticism brings, in turn, a welcome relief from realism. The public quickly tired of the true but sordid crime and gangster films, but recent romantic plays on Broadway are enjoying long runs.

Hater of Arrogance
He Called Himself That
But He Himself Was Arrogant

By MARSHALL MASLIN

A man asked:

"If you ask me what vice I hate the most, I'd say it is arrogance. I can be tolerant of nearly all the weaknesses and stupidities of man, but I cannot be gentle with arrogance. It offends me, it astounds me.

"What has man done to give him cause for arrogance. He plows the fields, he skims the skies, he plunders the earth, he builds himself mighty machines, strips a few of the secrets of nature bare, uses gigantic powers that he but dimly understands. But when he compares how little he knows with how much he does not know, why should he be proud?

"And how can any ONE man be arrogant? How can a man who must know how weak and peevish and petty his nature truly is be even a little proud? We walk the streets in dignity, but we hide within us a host of temptations that have conquered us, of weaknesses that overwhelm our little strengths. We are tripped into humiliations, we are swollen with false prides—and how can any man be arorgant?

"A man may be proud of his fellows, proud of the good qualities of his friends, but how can he be proud of himself? He should be humble, he should be sweet, he should be kind and if he builds his house on these strong foundations he may lift his structure at last into grace and beautiful strength. But let him be arrogant and he is blinded to truth, and all hope is lost to the futile fellow.

"I will walk a mile with the weak and the wicked, but I will not walk a step with the self-righteously arrogant."

* * *

The man hushed his sermon and went his way...And one who had heard him asked, "What is HIS greatest weakness?" And a friend replied, "I'd say it is arrogance, but he is no hypocrite. He hates arrogance, but he knows that he, himself, is arrogant. So he flays the weakness he fears the most. Haven't you learned that that is just what all men do?"

GET WISE

How often do you admit that you are in error, even when it is proved that you are wrong?

Rather than make an admission, don't you immediately set up some kind of an argument in your own favor or that of the matter involved?

While you are making excuses for yourself you are not correcting anything that you may have said or done, certainly.

Your mind is open to suggestion when it is constantly on guard against any expression of thought which differs from your own ideas.

Why should you think yourself infallible?

Without positive proof from a high authority, why should you be so vigorous in your statements upholding your opinion as correct.

As an always-right person you place great dependence on your memory which becomes decidedly fickle at times.

If you are one of this sort, you lose many opportunities for enlightenment which would be of great benefit to you.

Then, too, you often bring ridicule upon yourself because of errors that you make—for you do make them, and your cocksure way keeps others watching to trip you. Get wise to yourself.

THWARTED

His mother saw a pulpit in some old cathedral dim
And all the Sunday worshipers being won to truth by him,
But though he longed to please her preacher man he couldn't be
For there was that within him which kept whispering of the sea.

His father thought a lawyer in good time he ought to make.
In dreams he saw him pleading for some human life at stake.
But court rooms never called him. Still indifferent was he
To all save ships and sailor men and stories of the sea.

He never graced the pulpit; never rose to be a judge.
He lived and slaved for 60 years an ordinary drudge,
And all his years were dreary, since they never set him free
To follow far his fancy and go sailing out to sea.

CHECK FRAUDS.

Crime experts class check frauds as the fastest growing crime in the country, with losses estimated at millions every year. They say the increase is about 20 per cent annually. The trouble is partly in the law. You may pass forty bad checks but as long as the amount is not more than $10 for any one, you can be tried only for a misdemeanor. And you cannot be extradited from one state to another unless the amount of a check is as much as $100.

Handshake Of Two Leaders Relieves Political Tension

Former Governor Smith And Governor Roosevelt Of New York Are Believed To Have Assured Harmony Within Democratic Party

One of the most dramatic moments in political events of recent years took place at the New York State Democratic Convention, when Alfred E. Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt shook hands, calling each other "Al" and "Frank." And a silence of long standing was ended to the joy of their party.

"Whether spontaneous or studied, the manner in which the former Governor greeted the present Governor at Albany was most happy," says the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR (Ind.). "'You old potato.' The utter freedom of the phrase must have swept away all the bitterness of chagrin," suggests The Star. "No man can be called an 'old potato' without a warming of his heart. None can call another by such a title without sincerity." The MERIDIAN STAR (Ind.) is gratified to see Smith "come through." Though " a little tardy it may be," this journal feels that, "nevertheless, the idol of New York unreservedly joins the forces of our coming President." As the SALT LAKE DESERET NEWS (Ind.) puts it, "its outstanding feature was the humanity of it." The ROANOKE TIMES (Dem.), describing the significant scene, says Smith "did the natural thing, the manly thing, the thing Democrats have been waiting for him to do; he stuck out his hand with a grin which carried assurance that he was willingto let bygones be bygones."

"Those who know Governor Roosevelt and Mr. Smith intimately are familiar with their abiding confidence and respect for each other, and felt that the estrangement, if it could be called that, would not last, that they were bound to get together, and they did," declares the SCRANTON TIMES (Dem.). The CHARLOTTE (N. C.) OBSERVER (Ind. Dem.) sums up the occasion by saying, "The title of 'Happy Warrior' once more fits." The OMAHA WORLD HERALD (Ind. Dem.) finds it "not strange that that doughty warrior, Al Smith, was moved to come to Governor Roosevelt, his old-time friend and fellow soldier in the cause of Democracy, to grasp his hand and make plain that his hearty support would no longer be withheld. Qualities such as Roosevelt's compel the admiration of men with such qualities as Smith's," this paper asserts.

To the HOUSTON CHRONICLE (Dem.) Mr. Smith "once more reveals himself an unparalleled party leader," and the BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD (Dem.) thinks "the country and the Democratic party are grateful to Mr. Smith for his valiant service to the cause of high standards in public affairs." As the SPOKANE SPOKESMAN-REVIEW (Rep.) put it: "For verily, in that party there is more joy over one Al Smith than over ninety and nine Huey Longs, Dills, Wheelers, Norrises and Alfalfa Bills."

Equal in joy is the reaction of the country to Roosevelt's and Smith's victory over Tammany, in accomplishing the nomination as candidate for governor of New York State of Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, over that political body's opposition. "Gratifying as a handshake between Franklin Roosevelt and Al Smith certainly is to Democratic hearts," says the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL (Dem.) "more convincing still of their sincerity is the potent fact that Governor Roosevelt and Al Smith, Tammany man, born and reared on the East Side, administered a thorough thrashing to Tammany Hall in accomplishing their object." Leader Curry was forced to yield, the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL (Ind.) points out, after "suffering such a humiliation as has come to no head chieftain of Tammany in years." As the CLEVELAND NEWS (Rep.) phrases it, "Candidate Roosevelt and Sachem Smith had their way and the crowd was with them, even though it meant deserting a political organization of often unsavory name which has done much for a lot of the gentlemen present, including Mr. Smith." The ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS (Ind. Dem.) notes that "the significance of the move is realized when it is seen that Mr. Lehman is a man of unquestioned ability, honesty, and industry, whereas it was the plan of Tammany to elect a governor whose sole qualification would be obseisance of its political strategy."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE ROMANTIC SYMBOL

What have become of the cigar store wooden Indians? The question has agitated many curious minded people. There are yet a large number in captivity.

These wooden Indians were originated as symbols of the tobacco trade in the Seventeenth Century. A generation ago, one was found in front of leading tobacco stores in almost every American city. For a long time, however, they have been disappearing from public view.

Recently Birney Imes, a publisher in Columbus, Mississippi, announced that he desired to purchase one for display in the business district of that city. He soon discovered that there were enough of these wooden Indians in storage to people a reservation. Prices asked ranged from $125 to $1,000.

The captain was out and the suit and fake package were left. Captain, suit and fake package have not yet been located.

Arguments Made In Battle Over Holliday Will

Judge James A. Chambers Delivers Charge And Case Goes To Jury This Afternoon

Arguments by counsel in the Hiram Holliday will case occupied the entire forenoon at court today. The arguments were made by Attorney Walter Braham for the plaintiff and Clyde V. Ailey for the defense.

The case has been a long drawn out one in which considerable testimony was introduced in an effort to show the mental and physical condition of Hiram Holliday at the time when he made the second will.

The first will, which was drawn by Attorney Clyde V. Ailey in 1920, it is contended, was made at a time when there was no question about Holliday's capacity to make a will.

The second will, or the one which has been offered for probate, was drawn on September 5, 1930, or after a guardian had been appointed for Mr. Holliday. There was considerable difference in the disposition of property made in the two wills.

If the last will is held to be good it will be probated and distribution will be made under it. If it should not be held valid, then the first instrument will be probated.

Judge James A. Chambers delivered his charge this afternoon and the case went to the jury.

For the first time local alumni and fans generally will have the opportunity of witnessing a contest on the home ground in Reeves Field. A record-breaking crowd is anticipated.

BALDHEADED MEN DEMAND CHEAPER HAIRCUT CHARGE

(International News Service)

LAFAYETTE, La., Oct. 14—Baldheaded men have banded together to protect their rights against what they assert is unfair discrimination.

The organization is to be known as the International Baldhead league and the group here is the "mother chapter".

The baldheads contend that, since they already have been shorn of their locks by nature, they should not be forced to pay the full price for haircuts.

They demand that if the regular price of a haircut is 50 cents, the price for baldheads should be only 10 cents a cut.

Japanese Troops Press Attack On [illegible] Rebels

Japanese Troops Reported Cleaning Up Area Of Tung-Pien Of Rebels

(International News Service)

HARBIN, Manchuria, Oct. 14.—More than a third of the Tung-Pien area fell into the hands of Japanese troops today, as they pressed their campaign against Chinese anti-Manchukuo rebels, holding 300 Japanese and Koreans captive at Manchuli Railway.

This information was obtained in an official communique issued by Japanese officials here. Casualties in the fighting were not tabulated, but a Japanese spokesman told International News Service.

"The troops are moving too fast to permit counting of dead bodies."

The campaign against the insurgents began in earnest after all other Japanese efforts to deal with the rebels in the Manchuli area had failed.

Collegians Will Present Plays

Three One-Act Performances To Be Feature Of Alumni Day

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 14.—Three one-act plays by student casts at Westminster College have been announced by Professor A. T. Cordray, head of the department of dramatic arts and director of the Little Theatre. These will be presented on Friday evening, October 28, as one feature of the alumni homecoming.

The three plays to be produced [illegible] On the Shelf", by Christopher Morley; "The Wasp", by Esmon Dane; and "Long Distance", by William Haslitt Upson.

The program arranged is a varied one and offers three distinct types of plays. "On the Shelf" is a fantasy in which the scene takes place on a library shelf. The actors represent principal characters of various novels in the background.

"The Wasp", a melodrama, takes place during a Russian revolt, a few hours after an execution. The action centers around the Commissioner of Police, who attempts to evade the revolutionists.

"Long Distance" is a comedy concerning a young farm hand who loses an engagement ring in the internal regions of a tractor. The entire story takes place over a telephone.

KANSAS CITY WANTS BRIDGE TO UNITE CITY

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Oct. 14—The city commissioners of this city have renewed their efforts of 10 years to construct a major traffic way connecting the north and south portions of the city.

At present it is necessary for traffic between the business district and the southern section either to follow a torturous roadway through the hills west of the city or to use the streets of Kansas City, Mo., another city in an alien state.

The necessary link would be a bridge across the Kaw river, which the commissioners hope to be able to construct as an unemployment relief measure with the aid of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The wilds are conquered now and man has no enemies to dread except insects and man.

X-Rays Fail To Show More Bullets

Strange Location Of Bullet On Left Side Of Williamson Unexplained

X-ray pictures taken of the abdomen and other parts of the body of Fred Williamson, New Wilmington merchant, now in the Jameson Memorial hospital, the victim of shots fired by a holdup man last Saturday, for the purpose of determining whether or not, there was any other bullet in his body beside that discovered on the left side of his chest near his heart, failed to locate any bullet.

It is a mystery in the first place how the bullet reached the left side of the chest near the body, as the bullet wounds in the chest are on the right side, one in the front and one in the back of the body opposite the one entering the chest. The assumption has been until the bullet was located in the left chest that the bullet that wounded Mr. Williamson on the right chest went clear through the body. Now it would appear as though it did not. But in that case there is no explanation for the bullet wound in his back.

It is learned that Mr. Williamson in his statement to the authorities said that the holdup man shot him three times as they were near the cash register and then stopped as he was on his way out and turned and shot a fourth time, at Mr. Williamson, but this bullet did not hit him, according to Mr. Williamson. The authorities searched the scene of the shooting but could find no mark of the fourth shot on the interior of the store.

As far as can now be determined there is no explanation of this rather unusual scientific problem.

In the meantime Mr. Williamson is improving and indications are that he will ultimately recover from his serious wounds.

High School Boy Held By Police In Man's Death

Pittsburgh Police Are Holding Student For Striking Of Man, Fracture Results

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—Suffering a fractured skull he received when he was knocked down by a high school student, police said, Allan Dodds, 30, died in Sewickley Valley hospital early today. Harry Sheppler, 17, his alleged assailant, was being held by police.

Sheppler and several scholastic companions told authorities Dobbs, intoxicated, attempted to pick a quarrel with them. The boys attempted to walk away from Dodds, but he followed. Seeing their plight, William Sample of Glenfield stopped his car and offered the boys a ride.

As they got into the machine, Dodds struck at Sheppler, according to the story told police. Sheppler turned and knocked Dodds down. He was taken to the hospital by Sample.

GIPSY MUSICIANS ASK DOLE FROM HUNGARY

(International News Service)

BUDAPEST, Oct. 14—More than 2,000 gipsy musicians are unemployed and asking doles from the government. Three or four years ago it was a grand job to be a gipsy musician in Hungary. They were paid exceedingly well, and many of the Hungarian aristocrats and "gentry" had the peculiar habit of attaching 50 pengo bank notes ($70) to the forehead of a gipsy band violinist after a night of revelry.

Economic depression and the growing popularity of jazz bands put an end to this wonderful time for the gipsies many of whom are now practically starving. They ask for a dole and for the prohibition of jazz music in Hungary.

WOMAN SAVES SAILOR FROM WATERY GRAVE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oct. 14—There's one mate in the navy who has the distinction attached to his name as being a sailor who was rescued from drowning by a woman.

He is Charles A. Lewis a pharamicist's mate. Mrs. Mamie R. Conover, this city, was his rescuer.

They were with a swimming party off Annapolis, Md., when Lewis got caught in a swift current and was too exhausted to free himself. Mrs. Conover reached him after he had gone under the second time. Other swimmers aided her in getting him to shore.

Mrs. Edward Gann

Mrs. Edward (Dolly) Gann, sister and official hostess of Vice President Charles Curtis, ranks high in Washington official society. She and her husband and brother live in a hotel. They do little entertaining, but Mrs. Gann's official position makes her presence necessary at many charity shows, horse shows, concerts and the like. She is a kindly and eager helper in organizing such functions. And she is a good political campaigner.

Kidnap Plot On Coast Is Foiled

Three Men Arrested As Suspected Plotters In Kidnaping Of Two Wealthy Men

REDLANDS, CAL., POLICE ACTIVE

(International News Service)

REDLANDS, Cal., Oct. 14.—A suspected plot to kidnap Clarence White, millionaire Cleveland philanthropist and brother of an official of a truck company, and Dr. Charles Lombard, rich Redlands physician, was thwarted early today when sheriff's deputies arrested three men in an automobile near Dr. Lombard's residence.

Ropes and sheets and heavy coats were found in the automobile of the suspects who gave their names as Edmond Dow, 32, William Snyder, 36, and Charles W. Lombard, 36, (not related to Dr. Lombard) they were booked at the San Bernardino county jail on a charge of attempted extortion.

Drought Protects Young Game Here

Ideal Hunting Conditions Should Prevail In District This Winter

Lawrence county hunters should find small game plentiful this fall, not only in the local district but in other sections of the state as well.

State game officials state that small game, such as quail, wild turkeys, pheasants and rabbits, have multiplied rapidly and thrived as a result of the extreme dry weather. Young birds, especially turkeys and grouse cannot thrive during a wet season, and young rabbits often drown in their burrows during heavy rains.

Two Officers Of Illinois Guard Held For Murder

Southern Illinois Coal Mine Labor War Rises To Fever Pitch Today

MINERS GATHER FOR BIG PROTEST

(International News Service)

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Oct. 14.—The Southern Illinois coal mine labor war rose to a fever pitch again today following the issuance of murder warrants, naming two officers of the National Guard.

The warrants were swornout by Mayor Thomas F. Foster of Tovey, a mining community eight miles south of here, where Andy Ganes, a "rebel" coal miner, was shot and fatally wounded in a scuffle with police and militiamen.

The warrants accuse Col. Robert W. Davis and Capt. Carl J. Meacham with responsibility for the slaying. Col. Davis is in command of seven companies of the National Guard sent to the Christian county coal fields to preserve order. Capt. Meacham is Col. Davis' executive officer.

Resentful of the killing of Ganes, 2,000 insurgent miners were said to be assembling for a demonstration. The guardsmen were held under arms to deal with any emergency.

Defense Testimony In Holliday Will Case Is Taken Up

Evidence Tending To Show Hiram Holliday's Declining Mental Powers

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Snyder, with whom Hiram Holliday lived for some time, were called as witnesses in the Holliday will case on Thursday afternoon, in the Lawrence county court, and gave practically the same testimony. They told of having rented Mr. Holliday a room, and later of having made a contract with him for his maintenance.

This contract was later abrogated when an application for a guardian for Mr. Holliday's estate was made. On this application, S. E. Patterson was appointed guardian. Mr. Holliday then went to live with his son, Frank Holliday in the seventh ward.

Mr. Snyder said that while Holliday was at his home he had not talked with him regarding the guardianship appointment, but that he had heard him speak of it to Mrs. Snyder. Witness did not know anything about Holliday's visiting at his sons home while he was at the Snyder home. Holliday was not a very talkative man and seldom discussed his affairs.

Mrs. Almira Foster, wife of Thomas Foster, a half brother of Hiram Holliday testified that after Hiram Holliday came back to live with his son, Frank Holliday, in the seventh ward, he was frequently at her home. She said that sometimes he would bring the Holliday baby with him in a little wagon. At other times he would come alone. He seldom did much talking, his conversation being largely confined to answering questions which would be asked him.

Witness said that when Holliday would start down to her home, Mrs. Frank Holliday would usually call her up and tell her to be on the lookout for him. Mrs. Foster would call up Mrs. Holliday when the aged man would start home. They did this telephoning, she said, lest Holliday became lost. On one occasion he did become lost and it was some time before he was found.

In the opinion of Mrs. Foster, Mr. Holliday was not in a fit condition to make a will during this time.

Attorney Mont L. Ailey told about having witnessed the first will which was made by Holliday in 1920, and the codicil which was later added.

Insull Fears Shanghaing By U. S. Officials

Samuel J. Insull Watchful On Every Trip Outside Of Athens Hotel

American Charge D'Affaires Says Insull Has Refused To Give Up Passport

By WILLIAM PARKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 14.—Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities "czar" revealed today he fears he may be shanghaied.

Wanted by Chicago authorities to answer indictments of embezzlement and larceny, the ex-millionaire is worried over the possibility he may be forced aboard some American ship and carried home to face his accusers.

Because of this fear, Insull is remaining close to his hotel. He did not go to bed until early this morning, which was contrary to his usual procedure.

Being Watched.

He showed surprise when a representative of International News Service informed him he is still under secret police surveillance.

Insull did not take his customary stroll about the city today, but later decided to test for himself whether he was being watched by police.

He entered an automobile. Three men who had been loitering across the street from the Petit Palais hotel, ran after the automobile, hailing a taxi as they ran.

A short time later, Leland Morris, American charge d'affaires, told International News Service that Insull had formally refused by letter to surrender his passport.

PRESIDENT'S TRAIN TO MAKE BRIEF STOP AT ZELIENOPLE

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—Residents of both New Castle and Zelienople will have an opportunity to both see and hear President Herbert Hoover tomorrow in the course of his campaign trip to Cleveland.

Yesterday the White House announced that the presidential train would stop at New Castle long enough for the president to make a brief talk and today the office of Representative J. Howard Swick was advised that a short stop will also be made at Zelienople. A Baltimore & Ohio special will carry the president and his party, and the stop at New Castle will be made at the B. & O. station on Liberty street.

According to the present schedule, the "presidential special" will pull into the Liberty street station at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. For five minutes the great engine hauling the special will pant at a standstill while the president and Mrs. Hoover go out on the platform of the observation car. Mr. Hoover will voice a few brief but pointed remarks to the expected crowd and likely Mrs. Hoover will make some lucky youngsters happy by chucking them under the chin and inquiring how they are.

The president's visit to Zelienople will be more brief . The special is expected to arrive there sometime between 3:20 and 4 o'clock and will stop only about one minute while Mr. Hoover greets any wellwishers appearing at the station. Train executives here believe the special will arrive at Zelienople at 3:55 o'clock.

State For Hoover Says Wm. S. Vare

Philadelphia Leader Says Pennsylvania Is For President

STRAW VOTES ARE TAKEN LIGHTLY

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Republican concern over Pennsylvania, rock-ribbed Republican Pennsylvania, which has not cast its electorial vote for a Democrat since time immemorial, was considerably relieved today when Wm. S. Vare, the boss of Philadelphia, sent word to President Hoover that he need have no fear of the Keystone state breaking from its traditional moorings this year.

The bearer of these glad tidings to the White House was Senator David A. Reed, who was dispatched by Mr. Hoover earlier in the week to confer with the Philadelphia boss.

The Republican high command, including the President, have been considerably perturbed of late because of indications of a revolt in Pennsylvania.

Reed Brings Report

Senator Reed reported to the President today that he had conferred with the Philadelphia leader, and that, straw votes or no straw votes, the organization would "go down the line" for the national ticket next month.

If carried out, that means a normal Republican majority in Philadelphia county of anywhere from 150,000 to 200,000 or more. Enough, they figured, to offset expected Democratic gains elsewhere in the state.

"The Philadelphia organization is behind the national ticket," said Reed, after reporting to the President. "The normal Republican majority will be maintained this year."

A greatly increased Democratic vote in the western part of the state is frankly expected by Republican leaders. If that materializes, it may conceivably take one of those Philadelphia majorities for which Vare is famous to carry the Hoover-Curtis ticket through.

Straw votes have deeply impressed the Republican leadership, although there has been a disposition on the part of some to minimize their importance.

One Keystone leader explained them by stating that many of those participating in the polls were "discontents unable to pay their poll taxes this year" and thus unable to vote in November.

Hoover In State

Pennsylvania is vital to the Republican scheme of things in the election, and the assurances of loyalty which "Boss" Vare sent to the White House today were gratefully received.

Tomorrow, Mr. Hoover will campaign through a part of Pennsylvania, enroute to Cleveland, where he speaks tomorrow night.

Half-a dozen stops have been arranged for the daylight trip through the western part of the state, and at each of them Mr. Hoover plans to appear on the rear platform of his private car for short talks. It has been a long time since a Republican presidential candidate campaigned in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Hoover's trip through western Pennsylvania will precede by only a few days his rival's invasion of the state. Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will speak in Pittsburgh next week.

Woman And Two Children Plunge To Their Death

Milwaukee Police Contend Woman Killed Two Children For Revenge, Then Suicided

BODIES HURLED OUT OF WINDOW

(International News Service)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 14—To a maniacal thirst for revenge police today attributed the tragedy of murder and suicide which claimed the lives of Milton Libo 4, his 5 year old sister, Vivian and their aunt, Mrs. Aurelia Libo Lorenz.

The parents of the children, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Libo, were being detained for questioning in an effort to ascertain why Mrs. Lorenz, comely 31 year old divorcee, sought vengeance when she hurled the boy and girl from the 16th floor of a new hotel and then leaped after them to death on the pavement below.

Libo persisted in denying that he had wronged his sister as she charged in a crudely composed letter left in her hotel room before she plunged her niece and nephew and herself to death while hundreds of pedestrians watched, horror stricken but helpless.

New York Awaits Confession Arrival

No Action To Be Taken Until Officers See Kirk's Statements

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Harold Leo Kirk, who claims he witnessed the killing of Arnold Rothstein, Broadway gambling king, will not be brought back from Salinas, Cal., until his "confession" is checked, Police Chief Inspector John O'Brien said today.

"We haven't received the Kirk 'confession' from the California authorities as yet," said Inspector O'Brien. "Until it arrives, we will make no move.

"We have had twenty or more 'confessions' in the Rothstein killing from as many parts of the country. But in each case, it has been proved that the 'confessing' person merely wanted a free ride back to New York.

"We will send to the Salinas sheriff who is holding Kirk a set of stock questions, based on the known facts in the Rothstein case. Then we will see how his description of what he says he saw checks up with the known truth."

Ask More Apples For Relief Here

First Donations Arrive; Mayor's Relief Is Collecting Fruit Today

While some donations are being received, another appeal for apples went out to farmers of Lawrence county today, an appeal in behalf of the destitute now dependent on the Mayor's Relief Committee.

Officers of the civic relief organization announce that apples are needed to help balance the diet of foodstuffs which the committee distributes at the Carnegie auditorium.

Today the apple supply is nearly exhausted.

No trouble whatever will be caused donors who grant a part of their crops and everything will be done to help them contribute something if the word is only spoken.

To donate apples, call Bell 1307, the McClaren Body Works, Grove street, from which a truck will start out immediately for them. They will be brought to the Carnegie auditorium here for storage.

City residents were asked today to save bags and sacks for the Mayor's Relief Committee's use in storing the apples. They can be left at McClaren's or at the Carnegie hall.

Supreme Court Is Hearing Congress Reapportion Case

Ancient Practice Of "Gerrymandering" Up For Decision By U. S. Court

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The ancient practice of "gerrymandering"—where politicians shuffle congressional districts to satisfy their own ends—was on trial today in the supreme court.

For the first time, in the Mississippi reapportionment case, the contention was made before the high court yesterday that Federal tribunals can prevent legislatures from making unequal division of congressional districts in a state.

The state of Mississippi was forced to appeal after a three-judge federal court held the state congressional reapportionment law illegal. The state's congressmen would thus be elected at large.

In Mississippi the legislature was faced with the necessity of providing new congressional districts because the state's representation in the national house was cut from eight to seven.

Collier Is Out

The legislature decided not to disturb six districts and threw two together. The result is that two districts have over 415,000 population while the smallest in the state has only 184,000 population.

This reapportionment resulted in legislating, Rep. James W. Collier (D) chairman of the House Ways and Means committee—one of the most powerful committees in congress—out of office.

TWO COUPLES ARE WEDDED BY REYNOLDS

Justice of the Peace H. M. Reynolds of Union township had a busy day yesterday, when two couples were united in marriage at his office.

Thursday afternoon Wilbur E. Hateman and Miss Olive Rice were married by Justice Reynolds, the ring ceremony being used.

Last evening Donald Webster of Youngstown and Miss Louise Miller of this city were married by Squire Reynolds.

If only they'd keep the bands playing until the darned war is paid for.

Hospitals Here Fully Approved

In the anual report of the American College of Surgeons made public on October 10, a list of hospitals approved by the organization is shown. This list shows that the Jameson Memorial Hospital and the New Castle are fully approved by the American College of Surgeons.

For fifteen years this organization has been surveying hospitals in the United States and Canada for the purpose of giving the public accurate information as to the kind of hospitalization being done. The fact that both local hospitals are fully approved means that they meet the rigid requirements of the American College of Surgeons and qualify as modern, first class hospitals.

South New Castle Board Gets Loan From State Council

Will Hold Meeting This Evening On Installation Of Heating Plant

Members of the board of erucation of South New Castle borough will meet this evening when steps will probably be taken to re-advertise for bids for the installation of a heating plant in the school.

Bids were taken in August and the lowest bid submitted for a heating plant to replace the old one which is worn out, was $2,800. The board has no money and it was necessary to apply to the state for a loan.

Word has been received by the board that they will be able to secure $2,000. If they can raise the difference of $800 it is probable that a contract will be awarded. Otherwise, it will be necessary to re-advertise for a cheaper heating plant. Decision in the matter will be made this evening.

Thaver and company are architects for the school board.

BUS RUNS ON RAILS, USES PNEUMATIC TIRES

(International News Service)

DENVER, Oct. 14.—A revolutionary development in rail transportation which will go a long ways toward helping the railroads win back business lost to bus companies was forecast following the recent demonstration here of a new tire developed by a leading manufacturer.

Pneumatic tires, designed to run on rails, were attached to an eight-cylinder bus which made a demonstration run between Denver and Littleton, Colo. The tires provide smooth, resilient and almost vibrationless riding, it is claimed.

SMASHES NEW CAR TO SQUARE DEBT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Charles Stull, Negro, brought himself a new automobile and was well satisfied with it—and himself—when he drove it home to show the folks.

When he was inside the house showing his family papers proving his ownership, a terrible racket occurred outside. Stull ran out and saw another Negro smashing the headlights and glistening fenders of his new car with a crow-bar. The man fled.

He told police the man was a friend to whom he owed a small debt.

Y. P. C. U. Groups Meet For Workers' Conference At New Brighton

A New Castle delegation of thirty five young people representing four Young People's Christian Union societies, attended a Committee Workers' conference held last night in the New Brighton U. P. church for leaders of societies throughout the Beaver Valley presbytery.

Conferences on practically every phase of young people's work were led by presbyterial executive committee members, after which open forum discussions took place. The conferences were preceded by a devotional period and general assembly, over which the Misses Margaret Brenner, this city, and Ruth Hunter, College Hill officiated.

A social period brought the program to a close. A lunch was served.

PREDICT DECREASE IN AGRICULTURAL CROPS OF INDIA

(International News Service)

CALCUTTA, Oct. 14.—With the exception of wheat, sugarcane and rice, India's agricultural crops are expected to be less than last year's, according to estimates appearing in the trade press.

Sugarcane will probably reach 3,880,000 tons, or an increase of about 21 per cent; rice production during 1931-32 is estimated at 32,770,000 tons, an increase of about 2 per cent; wheat is expected to reach 9,132,000 tons, or about 1 per cent less than last year.

Cotton production, however, is expected to be in the neighborhood of 4,064,000 bales, or 22 per cent lower than for the preceding season, although there is a slight increase in acreage.

The jute crop this year has been reduced about 50 per cent, because of low world prices and lack of demand. Production is estimated at 5,560,000 bales, compared with 11,225,000 in 1930-31.

Camp Reunion For Girl Scouts Saturday Morning

This summer's Girl Scout camp period will be recalled Saturday morning when the girls who were camp buddies will get together for a reunion.

And what a reunion it will be! Elaborate plans, including a several miles mystery trail which will lead to a woodsy picnic dinner site, have been arranged. Camp councillers, several of whom are from out-of-town, will be present to help celebrate.

Scouts who spent one or two weeks at Camp Phillips this summer will meet in front of the Y. W. C. A. tomorrow at 9:30 and will leave there at 9:45. Every camper is urged to come and take part in what promises to be a very jolly event.

Instructions will be given as to the trail route and it is expected that this will be one of the nicest reunions ever held. Any information desired can be furnished by the troop leaders or the city Girl Scout director.

'Just A Slave' To Home State, Moans Huey Long

(International News Service)

HOMER, La., Oct. 14.—United States Senator Huey P. "Kingfish" Long, on his own admission, is the "slave" of Louisiana citizens and not the political dictator of his state.

"I haven't been a dictator," Senator Long, stumping in behalf of the candidacy of Representative John H. Overton for the state Senate, declared.

"I have been a slave. I have worked more than two men, 20 hours a day, to keep the schools, hospitals and banks open. I took Louisiana State University as a third rate school and made it a first-class institution.

"It is only since me and Oscar Allen were governors that you have had a governor in Louisiana."

Allen is Louisiana's present governor elected on a ticket supported by Long, and his successor when Long went to the Senate last winter.

SENATOR FINDS HE IS NOT CITIZEN

(International News Service)

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo., Oct. 14.—After serving four years in the State Senate of Wyoming and two years in its lower House of Representatives, State Senator Tom Gibson learned he is not a citizen of the United States and declined another nomination to succeed himself. He tells the story:

"You see, I was born in County Mayo, Ireland, and left there with my parents for Canada in 1864 when I was but two years old. Later the family moved into the States and I grew up in several of them. I cast my first vote in 1883 and have voted regularly for 49 years in the belief I had a legal right to cast my ballot.

"Later I learned that my father did not take out his first papers until I was just past 21 years old. That delay made a foreigner out of me. I shall overcome the technicality in the next term of the district court where I have applied for my papers."

Petrified Turtle Or Not? Schoolman Adds His Side

When The News a few weeks ago reported that a West Pittsburg man had found a "petrified turtle", it set a senior high school biology teacher, Howard A. Butler, to thinking.

Delves Down Deep.

And now, with his investigation over, he terms it "a septarian nodule or fossil septarian." But Butler has penned his own story, which follows:

Petrification takes place only under certain favorable conditions, and the object must be sufficiently firm to retain its shape, thus only the hard parts of animals such as shells, bones and teeth are preserved by this process. The number of years to bring it about depends upon the favorableness of conditions.

It is quite evident that flesh would entirely disappear long before such a process could be completed, and thus it is that "petrified bodies" cannot exist, despite the many reports of their occurrence.

The stone in question was once a mass of clay, which under the influence of the sun cracked into numerous, many sided masses. Later the intervening spaces were filled and the masses cemented together by limestone which came from water which trickled through the cracks.

Just Nature's Freak.

The formation is known as a septarian nodule or fossil septarian. The masses are so neatly placed together that it would appear that they had been mortared together by a clever human hand. It is no wonder that a finder who was skillful with chisel and mallet might be accused of this work of nature.

Petrified snakes are perhaps more often reported than anything else, although rabbits, turtles, pumpkins, bugs and even the patrified sole of a boot have been reported.

Even in nature not all things are what they seem, and the geologist often has to stop to prove to some enthusiastic finder that not all objects with shapes of birds or other animals once had life.

A small specimen weighing about 13 pounds and resembling a turtle somewhat may be seen in the biology department of the senior high school.

WOMAN, 77, KILLS TWO RATTLESNAKES

PITHOLE, Pa., Oct. 14—This once famous oil town, which had the third large postoffice business in the state in the height of the early oil excitement, breaks into the news with a snake story. Mrs. Rose Emick, 77, walking from her home to the mailbox, encountered two rattlesnakes. She did not faint, scream or run away, but wielded a club and dispatched both serpents. Then she continued to the mailbox, got her letters and returned home—as if nothing unusual had happened.

PALSIED MAYOR OF HUBBARD IS DEAD

HUBBARD, O., Oct. 14.—Charles White, who became mayor of Hubbard and a successful business man after both of his legs were paralyzed, died yesterday in the home where he was born 63 years ago.

In his youth he taught school. Then he worked for the Pittsburgh & Western railroad and for 12 years was manager of its claim department in Pittsburgh. He was stricken by paralysis and returned to Hubbard. After working as bookkeeper in the Hubbard Banking Company, he was elected mayor in 1905.

During the nine terms he served Hubbard paved many streets, built a sewage disposal plant, laid out sewer and water systems, built a town hall and one of the finest municipal power plants of its size in Ohio.

Says Jobless Are Local Problem

Governor Roosevelt Would Have State And National Aid Last Resort

GIVES IDEAS IN SPEECH AT ALBANY

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt stood before the country today with a solemn promise that if elected president he would inaugurate a "definite long range plan" for dealing with unemployment relief and other social welfare work, which he holds are a "proper concern" of the federal government.

In a nationwide radio address, the Democratic presidential nominee asserted that the primary responsibility for caring for the jobless rests upon local communities, but when local funds are insufficient the obligation passes to state governments and then to the federal government.

"Where the state itself is unable successfully to fulfill this obligation it then becomes the positive duty of the federal government to step in and help," Roosevelt said. "That duty and responsibility the federal government should carry out promptly, fearlessly and generously."

After insisting that it took the Republican administration at Washington "almost three years to recognize this principle," he added:

"For at least two years after the crash the only efforts made by the national administration to cope with the distress of unemployment were to deny its existence."

Although favoring the reduction of all governmental expenditures, Roosevelt said he was "utterly unwilling that economy should be practiced at the expense of starving people."

The governor also went on record as favoring unemployment insurance under state law, the co-ordination of unemployment offices and the raising of the compulsory school leaving age to 16.

Monkeys Prove Flop In Talkie Debut

(International News Service)

PARIS, Oct. 14.— Music may soothe some beasts but it apparently has no effect upon the Simian soul. This is the conclusion drawn from a series of experiments made with the monkeys of the Zoo in the Bois de Boulogne recently.

With the object of making a scientific investigation as well as a talkie, sixty fine monkeys found themselves faced outside their cage with a small orchestra, a battery of cameras and much sound apparatus. Three sorts of music were tried upon the little climbers, but all to no effect.

A jolly jazz tune, a mournful melody and a holy hymn were incapable of making any of the monkeys deviate from their usual antics. They revealed no evidence of artistic or spiritual feelings.

Sore Feet Cause Many Divorces, Doctor Declares

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.— Sore feet cause as many divorces as any other single circumstance, Dr. Philip H. Kreuscher believes.

So, to save the martial happiness of those whose feet hurt whose bunions cause distress and whose corns bring them agony he offers a new pair of feet.

Sounds absurd, but an operation guaranteeing the patient new feet in thirty days was performed here at a post graduate clinic of the Chicago Medical Society.

The operation, one of the latest wrinkles of medical science, consists of straightening all the bones in the feet, removing all defects such as bunions and corns and then putting the feet in a cast for thirty days. When they come out, they are as good as new.

"Bunions used to be the exclusive property of hoboes," Dr. Kreuscher said, "but they are becoming an aristocratic ailment. Everyone but the very poor can afford too tight shoes."

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 14.—Student parties in the gymnasium every Saturday night during the college year are being planned at Westminster College, Miss Mary E. Turner, dean of women, announces. Already three dance parties have been held.

Dancing from 7:30 until 10:30 have featured these all-college parties and will continue, according to Dean Turner. Expenses for the parties are nominal, the students contributing a silver offering to defray cost of music. There is, however, no door charge, and the parties are limited to college students only.

On the evening of October 29, which has been set aside for alumni homecoming, another such party is planned at which alumni will be guests.

With the lecture course, college Little Theatre course, the artist course, and recitals by faculty members and students added to athletic contests and fraternity and sorority parties, Westminster students will have even more social activities than usual this year, but the cost will be lower due to faculty ruling.

By action of the faculty, all formal sorority and fraternity parties must be held in New Wilmington and no favors may be given guests at such parties. All such parties must be held during the college year.

This eliminated Greek-letter parties held during vacation periods at distances from New Wilmington. The cost of such parties was prohibitive, so the "intown, in session" rule was passed.

MUKDEN, Manchuria—The study of the Japanese language is made compulsory under new regulations announced for all primary schools in Fengtien province, of which Mukden is the capital. Similar regulations are being enforced throughout Manchukuo.

FLUTE-PLAYING COP FIRED IN HARBIN

(International News Service)

HARBIN, Manchuria, Oct. 14.—The spell of the Orient spelt disaster for a Manchukuo policeman on guard outside the leading cabaret of Harbin. It was midnight. In Mongul posture the policeman was squatting at the curb playing a bamboo flute, when he noticed his rifle which he had placed on the sidewalk next to him had disappeared.

Whether an embryo rebel had stolen it, or some practical joker had pilfered the weapon was never known. Anyway, the policeman's aesthetic sense lost him his job.

It takes a strong microscope to tell the difference between some of these campaign statistics and downright whoppers.—The Boston Transcript.

FATTEN TURKEYS BY FEEDING WET MASH

Turkeys fatten more easily and produce higher quality meat if they are fed a wet fatening mash 10 days or two weeks before they are marketed.

This fattening mash can be made by using the regular turkey growers and mixing it with enough liqiud milk, or water, to make a mash of a thick porridge consistency. This is fed twice a day in addition to the regular ration. Commercial mashes also can be obtained for poultry fattening.

A simple fattening mash can be made of 2 pourds of corn, 1 pound middlings, and 1 pound ground oats. Mix with milk as described. If liquid milk is not available, one-half pound dried milk can be added and water used for the liquid.

This type of feeding produces tender flesh and skin. If this wet mash is fed longer than two weeks, it may cause the skin to get very tender and picking becomes difficult.

OBSERVE FOUR POINTS IN VEGETABLE STORING

Four suggestions for storing vegetables are timely at this season.

First, vegetables to be stored must be handled carefully. Decay usually starts in bruises.

Second, store at the right stage of maturity. Beets and carrots keep better and have the best edible quality if harvested in immature condition. Old specimens are likely to be tough and are the first to become pithy. Cabbage, onions, squashes, and pumpkins will not keep well unless they are mature at the time of storage.

Third, watch for heavy frosts and light breezes. Tender vegetables, such as tomatoes, peppers and eggplants, will not keep well if exposed to a heavy frost, while hardy vegetables, such as cabbage, turnips, and celery, may be injured by freezing weather. Burlap bags, newspapers or other material may be used to protect crops in the garden to avoid storing them before the last warm spell.

Fourth, fairly constant temperature and ventilation are essential for all vegetables in storage.

LEAVE COWS ON FALL PASTURE SHORT TIME

How late in the fall to leave cows on pasture during the day without detrimental effects on production is one of the problems confronting Lawrence County dairymen.

When the days are cold and rainy, more harm is done by leaving the cows out all day than the feed they will gather can offset. Often cows will drop milk production and lose flesh rapidly if kept in the pasture all day at this season. When this happens it is impossible to restore the normal milk flow and it proves costly to bring back the lost weight.

Dairymen who are the most successful in using fall pasture leave their cows out just long enough to eat what feed they want and then put them back in the barn. This method does not permit the cows to lie on the cold ground so that they become chillled, thus increasing the possibilities of garget.

The barn is a more comfortable place than the pasture after the cows have eaten their fill. Some supplemented roughage can be fed to help to keep the cow in good flesh and efficient production.

HONEY BEES NEED GOOD SUPPLY OF CLEAN FOOD

Unlike other insects, the honey bee passes the winter in an active condition. To provide for this activity, the colony stores a supply of heat-producing food in the form of honey.

During the cold weather months the bees gather in a fairly tight cluster and generate sufficient heat to keep the temperature of the bees on the outside of the cluster above 57 degrees Fahrenheit. When brood rearing begins in February the bees keep the temperature of the brood at about 90 degrees. To generate heat and feed the young bees during this long period, 40 pounds of honey are required before a new supply can be obtained in the spring.

MORE FARMERS PLANT TREES ON IDLE LAND

The farmer's part in reforestation has suffered very little from the economic depression. According to a recent Service Letter to the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, there were more small individual tree planters during 1932 than there were in 1930. This shows that farmers realize that they must get their idle land planted so that it will be growing a profitable crop.

It is now time to consider a reforestation project for the next spring. Every idle acre on the farm should be planted with some kind of a tree crop. There is still a large supply of seedlings in the nurseries of the Department of Forests and Waters not yet allotted for planting in the spring of 1933. Trees available for reforestation are white pine, red pine, Scotch pine, pitch pine, Norway spruce, Japanese larch, black locust, white ash, black walnut, and tulip poplar. These trees are well adapted to almost every kind of soil and moisture condition that exists in Pennsylvania.

To be sure of getting the desired species of forest tree, seedling orders should be placed early. Quite often the supply of the more widely used species is exhausted by the first of the year or shortly afterward. By ordering now there is no doubt about getting the kind of trees desired.

Money can be earned by growing Christmas trees on land not used for farming. Farmers living near towns of eight to ten thousand population or larger will undoubtedly find a local market for this product. In recent years, Christmas trees have been sold from the roadside similar to the method used in marketing fruits and vegetables. Seedlings to be planted for this purpose can be purchased from commercial forest tree nurseries for a reasonable price.

STORE CABBAGE BY MAKING SAUERKRAUT

Cabbage is one of the most widely used vegetables in the winter diet. One way of storing is to make sauerkraut, says Miss Eleanor Drury, Home Economics Extension Representative.

Earthenware jars are the best container for curing kraut. A 2-gallon crock will hold 10 pound or more. Straight sided cacks of cypress or white pine will serve the purpose if jars cannot be obtained, provided a layer of loose cabbage leaves is placed in the bottom and on the sides.

To make kraut, choose firm, mature heads of cabbage, Miss Drury directs. Trim off the outer loose leaves and cut into fine shreds. Place a layer of shreds from 4 to 6 inches deep in the bottom of the jar and sprinkle lightly with salt at the rate of 1 pound to 40 pounds of cabbage. Pack, but do not bruise, the layer of cabbage with a large, clean wooden weight.

Add layers of cabbage, sprinkling them with salt and packing until the jar is filled completely and the juice comes to the top of the cabbage. Cover the top with loose cabbage leaves that have been rinsed thoroughly, fit an earthenware or wooden cover inside the container, and place a clean stone on it to weight down the contents enough to bring the juice to the top of the cover but not over it. Juice covering the surface of the kraut is susceptible to the growth of yeast which will destroy the acid of the kraut. Tie several layers of cheese cloth over the jar as protection against dust and flies. Store in a cool, dry cellar.

From 4 to 6 weeks will be needed for curing the kraut. The product is completely cured when bubbles cease to rise to the surface of the liquid and the kraut is ready for use several days or a week later, Miss Drury explans. The cabbage leaves and a thin layer of softened kraut at the top of the jar must be discarded.

When properly cured sauerkraut is white to light straw colored, and it may be taken from the jar as needed, if sufficient liquor is left to keep that remaining covered continually, Miss Drury says.

Sauerkraut is very easily and quickly digested. It contains iron and lime for the blood and bones and vitamins A, B, and C for growth and well-being. The juice is a nutritious and delicious drink, Miss Drury concludes.

History teaches us that great leaders may just seem that way because their followers are dumber.

Holy Name Society Rally Is Planned

General Chairman Has Been Appointed And Parish Chairmen Named

Annual rally of the Holy Name Society of the Lawrence County District will be an event of Sunday evening, October 23, at 8 o'clock in the Penn Theatre. Plans being made indicate a record attendance of the members of this society from the various parishes of the county.

Rev. Fr. James M. Delaney, spiritual director of the Diocesan Holy Name Society, presided at a meeting held Wednesday evening of this week in St. Mary's auditorium and in which representatives of the various parishes participated. The preliminary arrangements for the affair were made at this time.

John B. Collins, president of the Holy Name Society of the Diocese of Pittsburgh, was also present and addressed the gathering. Both he and Father Delaney make their headquarters in Pittsburgh.

James T. Carey was appointed as general chairman for the local event. The following chairmen were named in the various sub-districts and parishes: Thomas Martin, St. Mary's; Jacob DeFonso, St. Vitus and St. Lucy; John Beiber, St. Monica's, Wampum; James Byers, Ellwood City; Frank Golba, Saints Philip and James; Joseph Kolvaleck, St. Michaels and Matthew Jordan, St. Margaret's.

Another meeting will be held next Tuesday evening for the purpose of making all the final arrangements for the event.

Roosevelt Plans Automobile Trip

Gov. Roosevelt Will Go By Auto From Pittsburgh To Wheeling, West Virginia

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14— Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, will journey from Pittsburgh to Wheeling, W. Va. next Wednesday in an open automobile but he does not plan to stop along the route for "platform speeches," David Lawrence, Allegheny county chairman, said today.

There will be no stops from Buffalo to Pittsburgh under the present plans, Gov. Roosevelt will make that leg of his journey on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad. Most of the trip will be at night.

The automobile route to Wheeling where the nominee is to speak at noon, will take the governor through the West End of Pittsburgh, Crafton, Carnegie, Heidelburg, Bridgeville, Canonsburg, Washington and Claysville.

Roosevelt will leave Pittsburgh at 9:30 a. m.

Forbes Field has been picked as the site for the speech here, one of the major addresses on Roosevelt's second campaign tour. Delegations from all western Pennsylvania counties are reported planning to attend in groups.

New York Woman Feeds Cats-Fish And Starves Self

Police Find Strange Woman Living With Cats And Goldfish, Sent To Hospital

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—For 20 days three sleek, cats in the apartment of Miss Martha Baston, a seamstress were fed from a well stocked can of specially prepared cat food.

A large quantity of special food also was on hand from which the goldfish were provided daily.

But in all that time, Miss Baston, out of work for eight months, fasted. She lost 40 pounds during what she called her "diet" undertaken to cure a stomach ailment.

A city marshal found her when he forced his way in to evict her for non-payment of rent for five months.

Her pride asserted itself when an attempt was made to remove her to a hospital as a pauper and she hysterically objected despite her weakness.

The marshal decided to move her today. Neighbors sent provisions to Miss Baston, a native of France, but she refused to eat.

PICKET SAVES BOY.

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O.—Edgar Agner, 2, owes his life to a spear-pointed iron fence upon which he fell when he tumbled from a second-story window of his parent's home. The picket, which the baby missed by a fraction of an inch, caught his dress, leaving him suspended in midair until the goods tore and he fell to the ground.

Kansas City thieves carried away a two-story, seven-room house, and if the owner hadn't dug a cellar in the first place, he would have suffered a total loss.—The Rochester Times-Union.

Country Sound Says Graham

Noted Auto Maker Addresses Graham Motor Car District Agents

NEW SERVICENTER FORMALLY OPENS

Banquet At The Castleton Features—N. E. Frasso Is Evening Host

Celebrating two significant events, the formal opening of The Servicenter, new Graham motor car agency on North Mill street here, and the visit of Robert C. Graham, Detroit, maker of the car which bears that name, visiting Graham car dealers from almost a score of cities last night shared a dinner in The Castleton and a reception afterward in The Servicenter's showrooms.

At the stroke of 6 o'clock a group of nearly 40, including a number of New Castle officials, sat down to a banquet in the hotel, with Mr. Graham their special guest, occupying a place of honor.

Graham had not been with the agents for several years.

Following the dinner the reins of toastmaster were taken by E. S. Carpenter, Pittsburgh, distributer for Graham cars in this western Pennsylvania district, and the introduction of guests fell to him. Mayor Charles B. Mayne, headed the group of public officials and he conveyed the city's welcome to Mr. Graham and the auto men.

Toastmaster Carpenter then addressed N. E. Frasso, new Garham agent here, and Frasso responded with a fitting welcome to the visiting car manufacturer and dealers. O. C. Herrold, Greensburg dealer, was also presented.

Mr. Graham Speaks

Once the introductions were over, Carpenter turned to Mr. Graham and introduced him to the dealers without a moment's hesitation.

Graham, who came here from Washington, D. C., to be present for the new agency opening and to greet his dealers again, told them of how he came to be here, just how much he appreciated the invitation extended, and how he was growing constantly optimistic as to the country's future.

While Mr. Graham did touch upon the Graham program for 1933, most of his message was reserved for timely observations and comments relative to the automobile and other industries.

In one sentence directed to the dealers he gave reassurance that America is sound, that the automobile business has a great future. The wealth of our country, he pointed out, consists of its natural resources, plus transportation. He said men have their role to play in the transportation end.

He predicted the Graham plant output in 1933 would reach two million cars, while this year it will amount to a million-and-a-half.

Graham dwelt often on the depression topic, but his listeners didn't hear him say a pessimistic word about the future. Instead, his statements bore sound optimistic notes all the way thru.

When the visiting official finished, the dinner session automatically adjourned. From the hotel the dealers went to The Servicenter to join in the public inspection of its modern showrooms. Mr. Graham was also honored there.

To entertain the crowd that had gathered for the occasion, Bernie Mack's orchestra played throughout the evening. A drawing fectured the affair.

Mr. Graham left after the program for his Detroit office.

In Attendance

Those present to honor the car maker at the dinner and to pay Mr. Frasso their best wishes as he opens his new Graham agency were:

Mayor Charles B. Mayne, Councilman A. A. Hoyland, Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools; Chief of Police John Ha:en, Attorney W. Walter Braham, S. E. DiLullo and Walter E. Watkins, all of this city, and the following from other cities:

ROAMING

With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

All roads lead to Mahoningtown Saturday afternoon when President Hoover stops long enough to deliver a short address, which happens to be a record of some kind or another. There may have been another president speak in New Castle in the past 25 years but if it was, it was Theodore Roosevelt.

That was the time when a reporter for a New Castle paper got buck fever. He had been assigned to cover the stop of the presidential train, and it was his first assignment of such an important character. He was to interview the president and see what he had to say if any.

Climbing aboard the platform of the train he was presented to T. R. And then it got him, it being buck fever. Swallowing his tonsils a couple of times he tried to speak but the words froze. What should he ask the president? Where were all those glib questions he had prepared?

Chasing desperation with hysteria he finally controlled his vocal organs long enough to blurt out, "Mister President what do you think of our baseball team?"

What Theodore Roosevelt thought of the New Castle baseballteam was never recorded for posterity but if you happen down that way tomorrow afternoon you might ask President Hoover what he thinks of our high school football team.

Honcey Johnston has one question he would like to put to the president and that is whether or not he is a coon hunter. Honcey says it means the solid coon hunter vote for coon hunters always stick together.

In another part of today's paper you will find the story of the Township Supervisors who are going to hold their convention this year and refuse to take the money due them from the county. That, ladies and gentlemen is the real spirit of economy, and the supervisors deserve a large vote of appreciation.

A township supervisor has a job something like a school director. There is little thanks in it and everybody knows more about the job than he does. He is supposed to keep the roads open in the winter, dry in wet weather, oiled in dry weather, and passable at all times, due it with little money and effect a tax reduction.

Most of them have gray hair and there isn't much wonder they have. The wonder is that they have any at all.

EXPECT MERCER TO GIVE HOOVER RECORD SUPPORT

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Oct. 14.—"A larger Hoover majority here this year than in 1928," was the prediction that come today from Frank D. Fair, Republican county committee chairman for Mercer county.

Fair cited the larger attendance at rallies and registration outcome.

A total of 39,275 were registered with 29,372 marked Republicans and 8,278 as Democrats, leaving around 2,000 distributed to the other parties.

The old-fashioned name for that high-minded urge to promote economic reform is envy.

WOMEN TO HAVE IMPORTANT PART IN CHICAGO FAIR

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Contributions of woman to the social and economic life of the world during the last 100 years will be fully represented at the 1933 Century of Progress Exposition.

There will be no special Women's building, because "woman's position in the economic and social world has become too important to be isolated in a special building," officials in charge of arrangements declare.

Plans are also being pushed for the International Congress of Women that will be held in conjunction with the exposition.

Lea Madsin Phillips, New York attorney, president of the National Council of Women and of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women, heads the committee.

Many States To Change Color Of Their Auto Tags

Pennsylvania Will Reserve Combination Used During Past Year

THIRTY-FOUR WILL CHANGE COLORINGS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14—Any sombre feelings that the country may have as a result of the depression period will not be reflected in the color schemes for automobile license plates in 1933, when thirty-four states will change their color combinations, and twenty-two different motifs will be used, according to a survey made by the American Automobile Association.

The national motoring body pointed out that fourteen states and the District of Columbia will retain their 1932 color schemes, with eleven states and the District of Columbia reversing them as to background and lettering. Thirteen states and District of Columbia retained their 1931 color motifs in 1932. New Mexico is the only state that has not selected colors for 1933 plates.

Opinion Given In Shoe Company Case

Judge Chambers Makes Orders On Motions Of Company And Louis Kaufman

In the case of the International Shoe Company against Louis Kaufman, trading as Kaufman's Reliable Shoe Store, Judge James A. Chambers handed down an opinion this morning in which a motion to strike off a demurrer to a counter claim is granted. Motion for judgment on the counter claim is refused. Motion for judgment for want of a sufficient affidavit of defense, is also refused. Plaintiff is permitted to file a reply to new matter in counter claim within 15 days.

The case grows out of a suit of the International Shoe Company against Kaufman for an alleged balance of $1,747.14 on a shoe bill. Kaufman denies that he owes the bill and has filed a counter claim for $5,470 as the result of an alleged breach of contract under what is known as the "Merchant's Service Plan." Kaufman claims that an agreement was made whereby the shoe company was to keep up his stock of shoes under this plan, but that the terms of the contract were not carried out and as a result he lost heavily.

Court Refuses New Trial To Kimpel

Amendment To Verdict Asked By David C. Ramsey Allowed In Opinion

In the case of Kathryn A. Hicks, by her mother Hazel A. Hicks, against David C. Ramsey and Reed Kimpel Judge James A. Chambers handed down an opinion today, in which a motion of David C. Ramsey to amend the verdict is granted The court amends it by the words. "Verdict for the defendant, David C. Ramsey.'

Motion by defendant for a new trial and for judgment on the whole record is refused, and the prothonotary is directed to enter a judgment on the record.

This is a case in which the cars of David C. Ramsey and Reed Kimpel collided on the New Castle-Wilmington road. Miss Hicks who was a passenger in the Kimpel car, was severely injured.

Suit was filed against both Ramsey and Kimpel, but when the jury brought in a verdict, it was against Kimpel only for $364.75 for Hazel Hicks and $2,000 for her daughter, Kathryn Hicks. As Ramsey was not mentioned at all in the verdict, he made a motion that the verdict be amended to show that the verdict was in his favor. This is what the court has done by inserting the above amendment.

The defense also made a motion for a new trial and for judgment on the whole record. This is refused, and according to the court's opinion Kimpel must pay the verdict.

Big Rally In Stock Market

A. T. And T. Spurts Nearly 9 Points—Other Leaders Are Up

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The stock market today reversed its recent weakness, and staged the best rally seen in nearly a month.

Leading stocks rose 1 to 9 points in heavy buying, which sent the high speed ticker 3 minutes behind in the forenoon. The uprush brought considerable profit-taking, but the list went into the afternoon with prices near the highs for the day.

The turnabout caught Wall Street by surprise. The shorts were caught completely off guard, and their scramble to cover was largely responsible for some of the spectacular gains.

American Telephone was the day's spectacular performer, spurting almost 9 points under urgent short covering.

Close behind was Union Pacific with an 8-point jump. The rails were generally buoyant, lower-priced issues like N. Y., Central, Lackawanna and Southern Pacific rising 3 to 5 points.

U. S. Steel common and preferred led a sharp rise in the steel issues, the former rising 5 points by noon. Utilities were set a fast pace by Consolidated Gas.

Auburn showed a bot of its old time volatility, with a run-up of about 7 points. Motor stocks were all strong.

The marines assure him a warm reception should he carry out his threats to attack Managua, the capital of Nicaragua, during the occupancy of the marines there.

Officials of the Navy department, however, discounted the possibility that Sandino would lead a large body of men directly against the capital.

Alice Longworth Denies Facts Of Capital Legend

"I'm Not A Political Figure-Head In Washington, At All," Says Pretty Alice

DENIES EVER GETTING VOTES

Widow Of Late Speaker Of House Revealed As Home-Loving Self-Centered Woman

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The legendary Alice Roosevelt Longworth who, behind the scenes, is said to wield more power than any other woman in Washington, is exposed as a myth today in a magazine article by Alice Roosevelt Longworth.

"The truth is," says Alice, in the first installment of her reminiscenses in The Ladies Home Journal, "that I have never in any single instance influenced a vote."

Disclaims All Power.

Then, with artfully concealed glee that the role of iconoclast brings, she disclaims any power or influence, pokes fun at the legend of "social lobbying", and paints a brand new picture of herself as a self-centered, self-interested, not-so-aware little girl in the midst of colorful and historical doings.

The Alice Longworth who is remembering her past in print, surprised that there should be "a market" for such stream-of-thought writings, compares hereself to the little green lizard on Solomon's wall, who saw and heard everything in Solomon's court but only kept track of the flies on the wall.

To Support Hoover.

"I met everyone. I heard them talk. I talked with them. I had an adequate patter. I knew what was going on, but it didn't make a dent."

That's Alice Longworth, as she sees herself. A public, long inured to her prank-playing proclivities, might take it with a grain of salt.

Alice Roosevelt is going to vote for Herbert Hoover next month, she reveals in the article, succinctly she outlines her relationship to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Many persons, politicians and non-politicians as well, mutter darkly that there is a misapprehension in the country as to just what relation Franklin is to T. R. and as people have actually congratulated me on the nomination of 'your brother', perhaps there is some confusion," admits Alice.

Is Real Republican.

"He is my father's fourth cousin once removed and my fifth. Politically, his branch of the family and ours have always been in different camps, and the same surname is about all we have in common. I cannot believe that the voter has any illusion as to the degree of our kinship.

"I am a Republican, with a Progressive tradition and inclination, and I am going to vote for Hoover. But if I were not a Republican, I would still vote for Mr. Hoover this time. I say this, of course, without the least personal feeling against my fifth cousin. But I think that Mr. Hoover deserves to be re-elected, and deserves the support of the people."

The names of some famous Americans occur in the first section of the Longworth memoirs.

"Bryan seems no more than a bulky, amorphous, frock-coated figure in a political cartoon."

Friends With Ruth.

"My father always wanted Ruth Hanna and myself to become friends. I had never known her very well in Washington, and felt a little shy about going to her wedding . . . . when Mr. Hanna died I went over to see her. I think that was the beginning of our friendship."

T. R.'s daughter remembers the free silver fight of '96 as her first presidential campaign, but it was her half-brother, Ted, not she, who was moved to oratory by it.

"I was a not very bright, rather lethargic child, and though three and a half years older, was too slow-witted to be more than an audience for my younger brother," she recounts. "That is precisely what I have continued to be—an audience, though not a lukewarm one."

In court today, Joe told the judge how hard he wanted to vote.

Sentence was suspended, and Joe went home to study some more.

In the near future, an exhibition of first editions of rare books from the collection of Professor Alexander Kostellow of Carnegie Tech will be offered students and the general public.

A display of pottery will be shown in November. This exhibit will be used to determine the interest of students in ceramics so that a course may be offered in the second semester.

Jess Willard Is Coast "Bouncer"

Former Heavyweight Champion Is "Flat Broke" Cannot Pay Plumbing Bill

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—"I get $15 a week as a bouncer now—and I'm a good one," said Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion and once independently wealthy.

Willard was haled into court to explain why he had not paid a $292.10 plumbing bill which he admitted owing.

"I haven't paid it because I haven't got the dough—I'm broke," he explained.

Willard is "bouncer" at the large market he formerly owned.

"You see, we have quite a few people come in who think they are hard boiled. My task is to see that order is maintained. I don't have much trouble, and never more than one with the same person," the man mountain added.

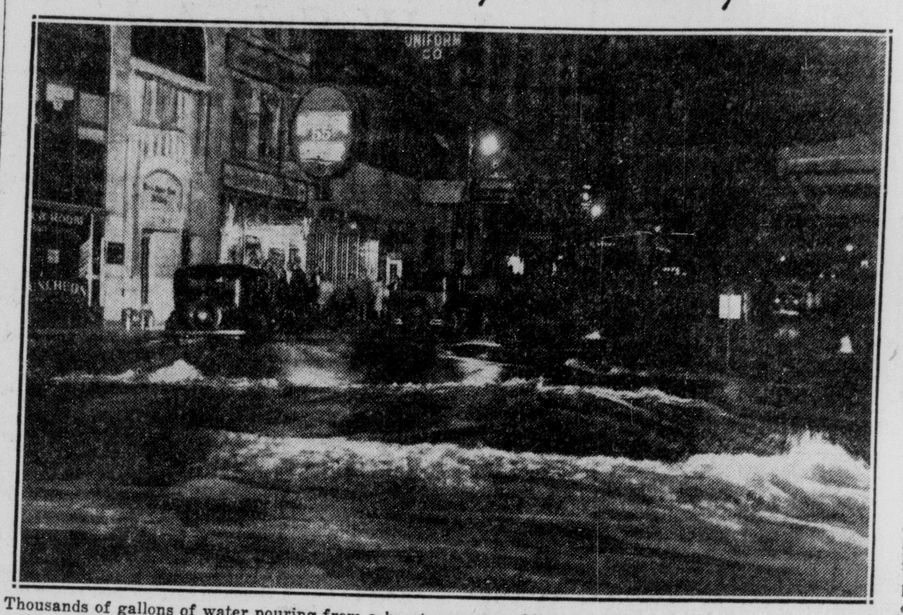
Pep Chapel At Senior High

Students of New Castle High School whooped it up for fare this morning in a pep chapel program, and the spirit shown by the youngsters means a lot of concentrated cheering at the New Castle-Washington game tonight. Coach Bridenbaugh, Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner and members of the team spoke briefly.

You're on the Spot!

Steady of hand and keen of eye, this young lady may be a miss but she doesn't miss much when she bangs at it. She is Miss Louise Tittman who won the title of "distinguished rifleman" in the junior division of the National Rifle Association at the recent shoot in Washington, D. C. The award is the highest rating in the junior division.

Venetian Scenery on Broadway



Thousands of gallons of water pouring from a burst water main in the heart of Broadway gave blase Gothamites a thrill when the resultant floor automatically changed the Great White Way into a waterway resembling the Grand Canal at Venice. Traffic, both surface and subway, was tied up for hours and thousands of pleasure-seekers were marooned in hotel and theatre lobbies. This is how it looked.

Ships That Pass in a Hurry

Speedy twins of the Atlantic commerce lanes, the S. S. Bremen and the S. S. Europa were passing each other in mid-ocean when this picture was made. The Europa, headed for New York, was snapped from the bridge of her sister, which holds the world's speed record for westward crossing.

HOLLYWOOD HAS ITS EYE ON THEM

Kin of Manchukuo's President

Unperturbed by the status of the new State of Manchukuo, H. Jingi, who is brother-in-law of Manchukuo's President, Henry Pu-Yi, by double ties, is shown with his wife at their home in a Tokyo suburb. Jingi, who is a student at the Peers College, is married to President Pu-Yi's sister, and the Manchukuo Executive is the husband of Jingi's sister.

They Still Differ

Following the announcement of her former husband, Richard Washburn Child, the war-time Ambassador to Italy, a few weeks ago, that he would support Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Presidency, Mrs. Eva Sanderson Child (above) has offered her services in any capacity in the fight to re-elect President Hoover. Mrs. Child said that any change in the Administration would be "foolhardy and stupid."

Real Campaigner

As everyone in Washington knows, Mrs. Edward Everett (Dolly) Gann is right there with the oratory when the occasion demands. Here is the sister of Vice-President Curtis as she appeared in New York preparing to speak on behalf of the Hoover-Curtis ticket.

All the Fat in the Fire

Streams of water are shown as firemen hurled them into the dense pall of smoke that overhung the Keystone Lubricating Company plant in Philadelphia in an attempt to quell the fierce blaze that followed an explosion. The highly inflammable grease made the task of the firefighters difficult. All available apparatus in the city was pressed into service to prevent spread of the flames.

Twin Froshes A-Wheel

Even the bicycles that these sisters use at Wellesley College, Wellesley Mass., seem to be related as they resemble each other almost as much as the owners. The girls are Maxine and Marion Sittenfield, of Kansas City, Mo. They are twins and freshmen at the famous school this year. They were on the way to classes on their "puddle jumpers" when they halted for this picture.

Seminaries May Merge Result Of Lutheran Request

Executive Board Of Church Recommends Merging Into Four Distinct Units

CONTROVERSY ON SALARY QUESTION

By DAVID K. GROSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—The destiny of the thirteen Lutheran seminaries in this country and Canada today were placed in the hands of the delegates to the eighth biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America.

The executive board of the church already has recommended that the seminaries be merged into four distinct units in the southern, western, central and eastern sections of the country, and this report came up for consideration at today's session. A great deal of debate is expected, and it is understood that several delegates have resolutions and further suggestions to offer. This is one of the most important items on the long calendar of business.

Budget Controversy.

Yesterday's business session was marked by several heated debates. One of the main issues was the reduction of the budget from $2,400,000 per year for the next two years, to $2,000,000. The fight against reduction was led by the Rev. Dr. S. W. Herman, of Harrisburg, and S. F. Tellene, vice president of the Chase National Bank of New York City.

A recommendation in the executive board's report to reduce the salaries of the president and treasurer was adopted. The secretary now will receive annually $4,800 and $900 for house rent, while the president's salary will be $6,000 annually with $1,000 for rent. This is a reduction of $500 for each post.

To Elect Secretary.

The vacancy existing in the post of secretary will probably be filled today when the delegates will take several more ballots. One was taken yesterday, but a scattered number of votes were cast for more than 40 names, with the Rev. Dr. Walter H. Greever, of Columbia, S. C. leading. Sentiment is believed swinging to him and his election today is anticipated.

The committee on army and navy will submit its report today. Lutheran chaplin John Hall, who is a major in the U. S. army stationed at Fort Hayes, Columbus, O., will address the convention. In the evening the celebration of the Washington Bicentennial and the tricentary of the death of Gustavus Adolphus, hero of Sweden and leader of Protestant forces in the thirty years war of the 17th century, will take place at St. Michael's church.

TRUCK DRIVERS ARE ORGANIZING

Plan To Battle For Their Rights On Highways Of State

Organized for the purpose of blocking any drastic anti-truck legislation in Pennsylvania, the Highway Users Conference has been organized in this state and expects to have a branch chapter in New Castle in the near future. Thus far the chapter is merely in the formative stage, but work is being conducted looking towards a formal organization.

In the literature concerning the Highway Users Conference it is charged that the railroads are attempting to have legislation passed which would drive the commercial vehicles off the highways. The purpose of the association is to combat such legislation and endeavor to preserve the present laws relative to trucks and freight carrying on the highways of the state.

We pay ourselves a poor compliment when we lose heart because of the discovery that great minds are no smarter than ours.

The Home And The Coming Generation

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Train up a child in the way he should go, and even when he is old he will not depart from it.—Prov. 22:6.

(The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson on the above topic is Gen. 18:17-19; Deut. 6:4-9; I Sam. 1:24-28; Mark 10:13-16; II Tim. 1:3-6, the Golden Text being Prov. 22:6, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and even when he is old he will not depart from it."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

In the Old Testament as in the New Testament, the church as well as the home has always been child-centered in its interest and program. When Jesus "took a little child and set him in the midst of them" to teach his disciples a lesson he painted a picture of both the ideal home and the ideal church, for it is God's plan that Christ and the child should be central in both home and church.

The characteristic of Abraham which led God to choose him for a great work was not only Abraham's personal faith, but God's assurance that he would perpetuate that faith through his children to countless generations. This is the significance of God's saying concerning Abraham: "For I have known him, to the end that he may command his children and his household after him, that they may keep the way of Jehovah, to do righteousness and justice."

If our posterity ever is to sing of us, "Faith of our fathers, living still," we must so live and teach that faith before our children as to instill it unto them from earliest infancy. The sincere milk of the word of God is as necessary and as nourishing to their souls as their mother's milk is to their bodies even from infancy. Paul speaks to Timothy of such a heritage as "the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother Eunice."

The Home A Bible School

God's plan is that the home should be the child's first and best Bible school. The word of God is first to be upon the parents' hearts and then by them to be instilled into their children's hearts. "These words which I command thee this day, shall be upon thy heart, and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up."

The home as a divine institution is older than the church, and it is not God's will that its responsibilities be shifted to the church or state. In the matter of inculcating religion, an ounce of father or mother in the home is worth a pound of clergy in the pulpit. God has given the home a tremendous handicap over the world of evil in the impressionable nature of the child during those earliest years, when home has its complete control and constant companionship.

Therefore, his promise is "Train up a child in the way he should go, and even when he is old he will not depart from it."

"Of Such Is The Kingdom"

Our Lord's interest in and care for the children of our homes asserted itself repeatedly in his ministry. He was never so busy with adults as to slight the interest of the little ones about him. Instead of expecting them to come up to adult standards he demanded that adults come down to the level of the child. "Suffer the little children to come unto me; forbid them not; for such belongeth the Kingdom of God. Verily I say unto you. Whosoever shall not receive the Kingdom of God as a little child, he shall in no wise enter therein."

HOME TOWN HONORS ENGINEER CASEY JONES

(International News Service)

CAYCE, Ky., Oct. 14—The home town hasn't forgot Casey Jones, the engineer. A marker is to be erected to his memory on the site of his birthplace here.

Jones was proud of his native city and talked about it so much people came to call him "Casey". Some one finally caught the spirit of his long years of service as engineer on the Illinois Central and of his prideful talk about Cacye and put it into song.

Jessie Bonstelle Is Taken By Death

Woman Who Aided Many Great Actors And Actresses, Dies In Detroit

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Oct. 14.—The American stage lost one of its foremost figures today with the sudden death of Jessie Bonstelle, "the star-maker."

Miss Bonstelle founded the Detroit Civic Theater, and trained numerous young actors and actresses who later became luminaries of the stage and screen.

Among the stars she developed and sent climbing to the pinnacles of fame, were Katherine Cornell, Ann Harding, Melvin Douglas, and Frank Morgan.

But how can the candidate handle public business like a wizard if he is incompetent enough to be as poor as his friends say he is.

Interurban Car Service To End Saturday Night

Youngstown Woman Who Rode First Car Invited To Ride Last Car

LINE EXTENDED HERE IN 1901

Operation of electric railway service between New Castle and Youngstown will come to an end Saturday night. The last car over the lines of the New Castle and Lowell Railway Company and the East End Traction Company, which together form the interurban route between the two cities, will leave New Castle at 11:05 p. m. Its return trip to New Castle will start from Youngstown at 12 o'clock midnight.

This will mark the end of 32 years of service through this section of the Mahoning valley. The first part of the route built was between Youngstown and Lowellville. The first car was operated over it on November 10, 1900. It was a gala event. Prominent citizens of Youngstown and Lowellville and intervening sections were invited guests on this maiden trip.

One of those aboard that first car by invitation of A. A. Anderson, then general manager of the railway company, has been invited to be a guest of the company on the last trip to Lowellville. She is Mrs. George James, of 3033 Glenwood avenue, Youngstown.

Her grandfather, J. C. McMillin, long prominent in Lowellville, was one of those whom Mr. Anderson invited to take the first trip over the new line, which marked a great stride forward in transportation facilities. He accepted and drove his carriage to Youngstown to be aboard at 2 o'clock in the afternoon when the trip began.

With him was his two-year-old granddaughter, Hattie Shaffer, now Mrs. James. She has but dim, childish recollection of what at the time was an outstanding event. In the intervening years she has ridden many times over the same rails, has seen the numerous changes in the cars and equipment that have come and gone in the three decades of rail service and now witnesses the passing of this form of transportation.

Extended To Warren

Opening of the railway from Youngstown to Lowellville was followed quickly by the building of the line from New Castle to the state line. The New Castle and Lowell Railway Company was incorporated February 8, 1901. Construction began immediately and was virtually completed by May 1, the line starting operation early in the summer. The line was twelve miles long, nearly all of it being over private rights-of-ways. With its completion there was electric railway service without a break from New Castle on the east to Warren on the west.

As the industry developed the various links in the route were brought into common operation. For many years limited cars of relatively high speed gave through service over the forty-mile route.

The Youngstown-Warren part of this line passed out of the picture at the opening of the present year when operation was abandoned by the West End Traction Company by permission of the Ohio State Utilities Commission. Permission for the abandonment of the East End Traction operating between Youngstown and Lowellville was granted several months ago. Meantime the New Castle and Lowell Railway Company went into receivership. Recently the receiver, Paul G. Dingledy, of New Castle, was directed by the court to cease operation at midnight, October 15.

When the New Castle and Lowell Railway Company started it erected a power plant and carhouse at Edenburg. This building, covering an area of 200 by 40 feet, was in service for more than a score of years. Use of the power plant was discontinued in 1913.

The Penn-Ohio System will substitute no service for the discontinued rail service. The Public Utilities Commission has granted a certificate for a bus line between Lowellville and Youngstown. Service between New Castle and Youngstown by way of Harbor and New Bedford, is given by the Penn-Ohio Coach Lines Company.

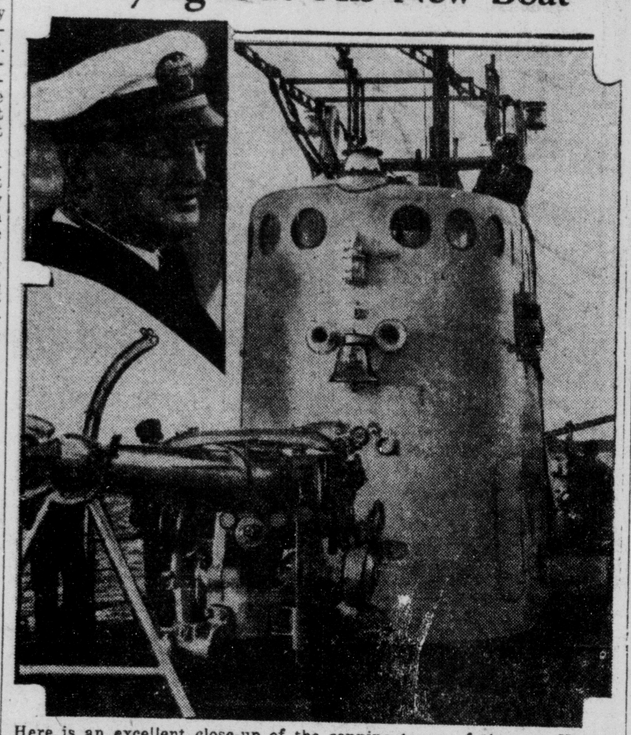
Trying Out His New Boat



Here is an excellent close-up of the conning tower of the new United States submarine "Dolphin," believed to be the most efficiently-equipped craft of her kind in the world. Photo was made off Provincetown, Mass., as the undersea boat underwent a series of trials under the guiding hand of her skipper, Lieutenant John B. Griggs, who can be seen on the bridge. Circuit To Be Entertained By Grand Auxiliary

Final Plans For District Meeting On October 27 Made Yesterday

Final arrangements for the entertainment of representatives from 18 divisions of the district circuit of railroad auxiliaries were made on Thursday afternoon at a business meeting of the Grand International auxiliary in the city building.

The local G. I. A. will be hostess to the district circuit all day on Thursday, October 27, at the city building headquarters. Guests from Greenville, Meadville, Freedom, Pittsburgh, Youngstown and other cities for miles around will be present. The meeting will commence at 10:30 a. m., will continue all morning until noon when dinner will be served in St. John's church, Neshannock avenue. The business session will continue again after dinner, coming to a close around 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Mary E. Cassell of Cleveland, O., the grand president, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hienerwald of Philadelphia, Pa., grand vice president, will be among the distinguished guests from outside the district.

All preparations were put in order at yesterday's meeting, presided over by the lodge president, Mrs. Fred Kelley.

TO PLAY ALIQUIPPA

Liberty bowling team will meet the West Aliquippa team at West Aliquippa next Wednesday night, October 19. The local team is making better scores every game and this week defeated the fast Hollender team of Beaver Falls.

SURPRISE PARTY

A farewell surprise party was held at the W. J. Tackitt residence of West Cherry street Wednesday evening in honor of Leonard Thomas who is leaving Saturday for Cleveland, Ohio, to enter Fenn College.

About twenty-seven young people were present. The evening was passed in playing cards and other games. At a late hour a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Henry Hamilton and Justine Rankin. After the lunch a very appropriate gift was presented to the honor guest.

All those present had an enjoyable time and wished Mr. Thomas much success in his chosen work.

HALLOWE'EN STORIES

Hallowe'en stories will be told at the Mahoningtown branch library on Friday evening, October 28, instead of the Thursday before as announced previously. The stories, which may be heard by any seventh ward boy or girl, will be told at 4:00 p. m. by the children's librarian, Miss Alice Joyce.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Mrs. M. L. Raney, of West Madison avenue, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ella Eckles, Cleveland, O.

J. R. Beede, of Akron, O., was a Thursday afternoon visitor in seventh ward.

Mrs. Cosier, of Painesville, O., is visiting at the home of Mrs. M. R. Olmstead, Fifth street.

Mrs. George Fisher, Mrs. Rose Doone and Mrs. Clarence Collingwood, members of the Mabel Wilson auxiliary, are among the local members who left Wednesday night for Philadelphia to attend a union meeting.

Observations In 7th Ward

The President is stopping in Mahoningtown for a little while tomorrow. Predictions that a huge crowd will be here when the train pulls in will probably not be far wrong. Local people recall when Calvin Coolidge and Teddy Roosevelt before him, made stops here. And when the Harding funeral train drew up to the local station, hundreds upon hundreds of people from miles around were there.

One of the very few places of this city to have a flag out on Wednesday, October 12, in observance of the legal holiday of Columbus Day, was the headquarters of the Christopher Columbus society, South Liberty street.

In spite of the fact that the Garden Club has announced it to be a poisonous bloom, a North Liberty street home has "Snow on the Mountain" planted in the front lawn.

Vinegar and ammonia were used by Mrs. George Horchler in making the "depression plant" which has attracted so much attention. These were added to the ordinary ingredients.

Graham Gives Praise To City

Famous Auto Maker Commends Hotel And Newspaper Here

TALKS BUSINESS ALONE, WHILE HERE

When it comes to talking politics, Vice President Robert C. Graham of the Graham-Paige Motor corporation, Detroit, shifts the conversation gears back to automobiles.

That a reporter of The News learned while he talked with him last night as he took a brief recess from a public reception accorded him at the Graham car's new agency on North Mill street. The motor magnate paused here several hours while enroute to his Detroit office from Washington, D. C.

No Election Forecast.

"You know when we leave Detroit on business, we try to talk only business," Mr. Graham responded. "Anyway, I'm no politician." He declined to discuss politics.

An hour or so before, however, the executive did praise the administration at Washington while speaking before assembled Graham dealers at a dinner in The Castleton. Then he declared the people should have faith in and support their government.

The genial, friendly car maker, one of the two famous Graham brothers—the other Joe—would talk about almost anything but politics. And he didn't leave without praising the city for its fine hotel, The Castleton.

"You know in traveling about from state to state I judge cities by two things—the hotels and the newspapers," Graham said. "Let me pat your city on the back."

"Auto Stickers" Great.

Graham was more than busy last night, but he took time to praise Pennsylvania for its required motor car inspection. As a director of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce he plans to initiate steps soon to have every state adopt the mechanical inspection. Few have such today, he reported.

"I've been in a motor car for the past two months surveying New England's business, and there I passed wreck after wreck along the roads. I began to get scared. You see a change when you enter Pennsylvania.

"After all, we manufacturers of cars are first and above all for safety on the highways. We don't want to see people being injured or killed."

Like in his talk to the dealers. Graham declared his optimism about business. He's sound though in his forecasts and he doesn't "look for a change overnight."

Mrs. Graham came here last night with her husband, and following the program in his honor and the close of the new Graham agency's celebration they left for Detroit.

Past Presidents Honored By Home Circle This Week

Fine Program, Business Meeting, Mark Gathering Of Protected Home Circle

Among the many organizations in New Castle none enjoy the true spirit of fraternalism more than New Castle Circle No. 5 Protected Home Circle.

This was exemplified on Wednesday night when proceeding the business session an excellent tureen dinner called a splendid representation of the membership together who certainly enjoyed the elaborate menu perfectly. It was served by Guardian Kathryn Cowles and her social committee.

Again the pleasant feature of the session was the observance of Past Presidents Night when the stations of the Circle were filled with past president who had served this office years ago and were as follows:

Past president—Louis Whitman; president, A. L. Conn; vice president, Gladys Erwin; guardian, Telitha Richards; secretary, Lillie B. Jones; accountant, Roy Erwin; treasurer, George W. Wyman; chaplain, Belle Kennedy; guide, Helen Ray; companion, Mildred Rodgers; sentinel, Helen Hurst; watchman, Mary Patterson.

Other past presidents present were guests of honor while the business of the hour was most impressively interesting throughout.

Social events of the Circle for the season promise excellent features along this line and on Wednesday night October 26 the annual Hallowe'en masquerade promises a frolic that will pack the Circle chamber. The busy Junior Circle which is sponsored by Counceller Hildred Back and her assistant, Helen Ray, will hold a Hallowe'en party on next Wednesday night, when the parents of the Juniors will be welcome as guests.

Following the busy recent session another splendid program was presented by the guardian, State Deputy M. M. Henlein, of Erie, gave the circle one of his fine addresses, while the violin selections by Emery Back, accompanied by Professor Stephen Gulinski was one of the finest numbers on the program. Another rare treat was the delightful vocal numbers contributed by Mrs. Ann Lyden Gulinski, who possesses a wonderful soprano voice of beauty and perfect to a note, accompanied by her husband. Madam Gulinski responded to several encores. Her duet with Past President David Tucker, who later contributed several fine soloes, was another fine piece of work. Miss Ethel Cowles and Miss Barbara Yoho, young readers of elocutionary ability came in for their share of honors and a social hour with refreshments closed Past Presidents Night as another happy event in the Circle.

Uses Suns Rays To Cook Food For Thirty-One Dogs

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Oct. 14.—Old Sol has stepped in this summer to help Miss H. H. Jacobs, animal benefactress, care for her 31 dogs.

The depression not only has increased Miss Jacob's animal family, but has also decreased her income from volunteer contributions. Early in the summer the feeding of dogs became an acute problem. Looking about for a means of economizing, Miss Jacobs decided she would try cooking the dog's food by the sun's rays instead of on her electric stove.

In a sunny spot in the yard of her home she placed a rain barrel upside down. She placed a cooking utensil on top of the barrel and covered it with glass. In this vessel she placed the prepared food that she buys for her dogs and let it cook each day for three hours.

The plan worked successfully and Miss Jacobs then extended her sun cookery to vegetables.

REFUSES TO LEAVE DEMOLISHED HOUSE

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 14—Unusual tenacity was displayed here by a shoe dyer, John Martin, who insists on carrying on his business while his house is literally falling down about his head.

Although his house is being demolished by London County Council workmen, Martin refuses to leave.

When the workmen began on the roof, Martin, his wife, and their three children moved to the next floor. That floor now is in ruins, and the family has moved lower.

Martin declared:

"I do not intend to get out until there is nothing left for me to live in," Martin said. "I have nowhere left to go. I am not going to allow my wife and children to go to the workhouse."

A scientist denies that the average man is getting bigger. Some of them merely feel that way.—The Minneapolis Journal.

Caught Napping?

Although noted for his aversion to press cameras, J. Pierpont Morgan, famous international financier, didn't seem to mind when this photo was taken. An enterprising photographer made the picture as Morgan left the church at Hertfordshire, Eng., where he had attended services. The financier spent a few days in the little town after vacationing in Scotland.

NERVOUS GUNNERS HIT HUMAN TARGET

(International News Service)

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 14—The next time four North Carolina national guardsmen tow a target at sea, they will want a complete understanding with the artillerymen as to where they are going to shoot.

The four guardsmen were aboard a tug towing an artillery target. The gunners banged away. The shells crashed through the tug, wounding all four. Army officers did not say whether any of the projectiles struck the target.

No Endorsement By State Labor For Candidates

Organized Labor In Pennsylvania Follows Leads Of American Federation

VOTERS WILL BE WITHOUT ADVICE

Contend Endorsement For Any One Candidate Would Only Upset Unity

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Oct. 14.—Organized labor in Pennsylvania has no candidate this year. Thousands of workers enrolled under the banner of the state federation will vote next month without advice or suggestion from their organization.

"The Pennsylvania state federation of labor is neutral in the present campaign," its president, John M. Phillips, asserted today. "And it will remain neutral. No candidate for the presidency or any other office will receive its endorsement."

No Endorsements.

The state organization is taking its cue from the parent order, the American Federation of Labor, which declined to endorse any of the presidential candidates although it issued an expository review of the two major party platforms.

"We are bound by the attitude of the federation," Phillips explained. "I am simply a servant of my organization and I cannot undertake to endorse candidates or their platforms."

Through its attitude of neutrality the state organization is forsaking the opportunity to utilize its collective voting power in the present campaign at a time when thousands of workers are idle, Phillips admitted.

Prevent Bickering.

But, he explained, the federation still remembers with a good deal of pain the reverberations which shook the organization in 1930 when it felt moved to endorse the candidacy of United States Senator James J. Davis, whom it labeled a "friend of labor".

"We have all parties in our organization and all shades of thought and opinion are represented. Internal dissension and bickering would be the inevitable result if the federation would attempt to take sides in the election," he added.

Maintain Unity.

Phillips pointed out that Republicans and Democrats predominate in the membership of the local units which comprise the state body. Yet, in some section of the state, largely in the garment manufacturing centers, Socialistic factions are prominent in the local unions.

Any attempt to commit the state body to the candidacy of the nominee of any one party would shake the unity of the federation and naturally reduce its organization to the various factions of political opinion, he said.

"The federation's first aim is to maintain the unity of its organizations."

"Rattlesnake Pete" Is Buried Today At Rochester, N. Y.

Hundreds Of Mourners Walk By Bier Of Famous Trapper Of Rattlesnakes

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 14—Simplicity marked the funeral services today for "Rattlesnake Pete," Gruber, known throughout the land for his experiences with the deadly rattler, in strange contrast to his colorful career. His bier at his home was banked with floral pieces sent by friends.

As the mourners walked by the casket for a last glimpse at "Rattlesnake Pete" looking life-like with his drooping white mustache and silvery hair, they trod across a pelt of a huge St. Bernard dog. The pelt was that of Lion, towering companion of "Pete" for many years.

In the yard back of the home was another St. Bernard, "Queenie." Back and forth she paced in her enclosure. Her master was dead, but no one would free her to take a last look at the man that was so kind to her—at the man who played with her in his last days.

At St. Mary's church, "Rattlesnake's" church for a half century, solemn requiem mass was celebrated. Hundreds of his friends attended.

Many women came to pay their last respects to the man who they claim cured them of goiter.

Legal Obstacles Blocking Railroad Link Near Youngstown, Removed

(International News Service)

This ruling automatically dismissed the petition of the Pennsylvania railroad which opposed the commissioners' order.

The proposed railroad link, upon which work already has startted, extends from the mouth of Little Beaver River to Negley, O., a distance of 13 miles.

Asserts Gunman Killed Rothstein

Weird Tale Is Told By Los Angeles Youth In Sensational Crime

SAYS LOVE OF BLONDE, CAUSE

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SALINAS, Cal., Oct. 14.—A hired killer, a professional "gun," assassinated Arnold Rothstein, prince of gamblers, over the love of a beautiful blonde girl.

Crying hysterically against a vigorous grilling, Harold Leo Kirk, slender, nervous Los Angeles youth, today offered that sensational solution to the New York murder mystery of 1928.

Unshaken at any point of his weird story, the 22-year-old confessed liquor runner, ex-convict and forger stuck to his account of having witnessed the slaying of the multi-millionaire underworld chieftain, Rothstein, in the spacious lobby of the Park Central hotel in New York.

"A 'gun' named Frank Moane poured the lead into Rothstein."

Kirk insisted as tears rolled down his face. "And I wouldn't lie because I'm dying. A doctor told me so three weeks ago and I wouldn't go out of this world with a lie on my lips.

"I swear—I swear I'm telling the truth."

He said he believed that Moane was acting for a New York rum runner named Dick Goldstein. Kirk's "boss—" the man for whom Kirk says he was driving a "hot" car—an armored automobile with a gunman beside him, to "smoke out" hijackers bent on stealing Goldstein's bottled goods as they were transported by truck from Philadelphia to New York or visa versa.

"I started out of the lobby," Kirk said, graphically describing the scene in the office of Sheriff Carl H. Abbott, who has him in custody here, "when shots—maybe two, maybe three—rang out behind me. I whirled around and there stood Dick and Moane, with Moane facing Rothstein, who was looking startled and sort of crumpling, and Moane had a gun in his hand."

Kirk, who said he was known in New York under the name of Doyle Quiggle, pinned the motive on love because he claims he chauffeured Goldstein and "Rothstein's blonde" to the Silver Pheasant night club a couple of times.

New York, Oct. 14.—New York police today refused to take seriously the reported "confession" in Salinas, Cal., of Harold Leo Kirk, a youth formerly of New York, that he witnessed the murder of Arnold Rothstein, New York gambler.

Skeptical officials said Kirk was probably driven to tell the story in hopes of obtaining a free ride to New York for examination by authorities here.

Big Increase Of Child Criminals Alarms England

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 14.— The number of child-criminals in London is causing alarm and puzzlement among British educationalists and doctors.

In one well-known house of detention 744 young boys and 112 equally young girls were admitted in 1931.

The report of the London County school medical officer states that simple larceny constituted 50 per cent of the charges.

Medical authorities have attributed the number of child delinquencies to the fact that the children were allowed to get beyond parental control.

Six and seven were not uncommonly tender ages for the child-thief to start his practice.

An unusual fact brought to light by the medical authorities was that delicate children seldom were delinquents due to the parental care and fussing which were bestowed on them.

PRESSURE SALESMAN HAD TOO MUCH STEAM

(International News Service)

ANNISQUAM, Mass., Oct. 14.—"High pressure" salesmanship of Gilman Harvey, Jr., 10, selling tickets for the annual play of the Universalist Church Sunday school was so good that he nearly stopped the show.

When he reported back with money for 95 tickets, he swelled the advance sale 275, for a hall seating only 200, and had to reverse his salesmanship to plead with 75 persons to agree not to attend the play and accept their money back.

Every politician has his ear on the ground, either of his own volition or when he is thrown out on it.

UNDEFEATED SCHOOLBOY ELEVENS AWAIT BATTLE

New Castle Hopes For Victory In Second Class AA Conference Battle

Break In Weather Will Fill Taggart Stadium—Game Starts At 8 O'Clock

Taggart Field, this city, will be the focal point tonight for thousands of eyes, from the scholastic sporting world of Western Pennsylvania, and particularly the Class AA Conference as the undefeated New Castle High School football team and Washington High eleven go to the beautiful green floor of the spacious local gridiron for their annual fall meeting. The Conference is interested because both teams happen to be in the thick of the fight for the title. Victory tonight is a much sought after lady. The kickoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock. The weatherman holds the fate of the crowd in the palm of his hand.

Hope For Dry Field

There are several thousand football fans hoping for a nice dry night. This New Castle team with all their speed favor a dry field. If it rains, the game may develop into one of those titanic struggles where one touchdown looks like a man-mountain. The teams are about evenly matched in weight. New Castle has just a little more speed. For the past 24 hours Taggart Field has gotten a good soaking. It's a grassy field and not a bit muddy, it isn't that. It may be soggy however.

The big "Red Hurricane" machine was given its final oiling last night under the floodlights and the spark plugs all changed, ready for a lot of action tonight. No missing in the engine for this Washington crew. New Castle is entering the game tonight with a crippled team. "Whitey" Nickum is suffering a badly sprained hand. Walter Kominic, fullback, injured his arm in the Coraopolis game and then aggravated it in the practice session and he is ailing, but intends to stick in there tonight and fight it out. Radskowski the big left guard pulled up with a "Charley Horse" the other night after practice, and "Radky" is hobbling around, but may start the game.

Brand New Attack

The old master Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh has opened up his bag of tricks for tonight. You won't recognize some of those plays. They have never been used before. Scouting New Castle for this important game has availed the rivals nothing but a lot of expense.

Every man on that New Castle team is going to give all he's got to win tonight. This Washington hurdle is a tough one. One of the toughest on the 1932 program, although there are few who say us "nay" having seen Washington go against Monaca or clairton, but Coach Billy Cox is bringing a brand new Washington attack to New Castle. Washington was plenty tough with that Hank Day system but Cox has given them the Notre Dame system also, and the two combined have produced a great running attack. The New Castle linemen and especially those ends Thomas and Tomalello have their work cut out for them. The New Castle backfield had better be awake tonight, not that they haven't been previously, but just as a reminder. Washington is going to take to the air. They have been working all week on a tricky aerial attack.

Look For Tough Game

New Castle is all set and waiting for this gang of Blue and White jerseyed boys from the southern part of the state. It's going to take 60 minutes of the toughest kind of football playing to conquer tonight. That goes for either team. Washington has always given New Castle a first class engagement. Tonight will be no exception. "Bill" Cox wants to win.

Same Lineup

New Castle will use the same lineup probably that started against Coraopolis, with Kominic at fullback. Nickum and Uram at the halves and Rambo barking signals and running the blocking half post Lane and James are ready to enter the game at a moments notice. Both boys are fast and eager to get going. Uram will be watched tonight.

Morris Is Good

Coach Cox said that he figures New Castle will have a hard time stopping Barr and Morris. Washington has built the majority of their running plays around this pair, with McGlumphy doing some occasional ball toting. Sorice is the blocking half. Washington has a good line. The Notre Dame system requires a big bruising line to work the various plays. New Castle's line figures to stop all and sundry charges, and that New Castle front wall is solid. Captain Mike DeCarbo makes that line look good. He is a brainy, smart player and an excellent punter.

This looks like one of the best games on the 1932 program. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner is making plans for one of those whopper crowds tonight. A game of this kind always brings out the fans. The gates will open at 6:30 o'clock. There are plenty of tickets left for this game.

Washington High will bring a big delegation of fans and students. All that is needed is a nice cool crisp October evening to complete the setting. The floodlights, a couple of highly trained football machines, and several thousand people will supply the color.

Junior High Teams Tangle

George Washington And Ben Franklin Play At Washington Field At 4 O'clock

George Washington High coached by Dan Carroll meets Ben Franklin High football team coached by Emmett Gillaspie this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the George Washington High field. A fast game is looked for when the rival Junior High teams tangle.

The Franklin team on the strength of their record to date are installed as the favorites, but this Carroll coached machine may spring a few surprises. Anderson is the big star on the Washington team, with DeCaprio and Majocha the best bets in the Franklin lineup. Morgan is also a good man for Franklin.

Clintonville To Oppose Bessemer

Bessemer High To Play Clintonville On Latter's Field, Saturday

BESSEMER PRIMING FOR UNION, SHENANGO

(Special To The News)

BESSEMER, Oct. 14.—Bessemer high school will clash with Clintonville at Clintonville Saturday and the game will be the last before the meeting of county high school elevens for the championship games. So far the Bessemer eleven has lost three games and deadlocked in one. Despite the defeats Bessemer's offense has shown up better with each succeeding game.

The loss of Frank Sankovich, lineman, as the result of a shoulder injury hurt defensively and offensinvely in the Scienceville game and there is small prospect that he will get into the game against Clintonville but may be ready by the time Shenango is met.

Benson who has been ineligible will probably play against Clintonville. He is an excellent runner, kicks and passes well and with De Arment, Shoup and Hostnick showing an improvement in their line play, Bessemer has strong hopes for Saturday's game.

With a backfield which is always a threat, hard, running interference and a gradual improvement in blocking and tackling Bessemer intends to give everything the team possesses in the championship games.

Union is Bessemer's chief rival and Bessemer always strives to defeat the Boydmen but Shenango this season has a mighty good team and with the two contests scheduled for Bessemer there will be plenty of action.

Only one game has been played on the Bessemer field this season It is in excellent shape.

Select firm, ripe tomatoes. Wash well and drain. Cut into sections. Add a small quantity of water to start cooking and simmer until softened. Stir occasionally to prevent burning. Put through a sieve fine enough to remove seeds. Bring to boiling, put immediately in containers. Add one teaspoon salt to each quart of juice. Process quart and pint glass jars five minutes in boiling water.

Kid Chocolate Whips Feldman

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Keed is champ. Synthetic or symbolic, Keed Chocolate is nevertheless the new featherweight champion of the world as far as the New York Commission is concerned.

He stopped brave Lew Feldman in 2:45 of the 12th round in Madison Square Garden last night, Patsy Haley halting the fracus when a deep cut loomed up on the bridge of Feldman's nose.

Chocolate had battered Feldman so relentlessly in the ninth, tenth and eleventh that it was a foregone conclusion that he couldn't have toddled much further.

Four Class AA Games Saturday

New Castle and Washington will meet here tonight in a Class AA conference game, but the other teams in the conference are playing Saturday. There will be four double A games tomorrow as follows:

Charleroi at Clairton.
McKeesport at New Kensington.
Greensburg at Norwin.
Monessen at Jeannette.

Ellwood High Set For Grove City

Benedict Men May Unleash New Attack Against Visitors Saturday

GAME TO START PROMPTLY AT 2:30

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 14.—With their eyes on the New Castle game a week from tonight, the Ellwood High gridders may unleash a new line of attack when they meet Grove City High at Lincoln Field on Saturday afternoon.

The outcome of the Grove City game will show to a great extent how the local eleven classes up with Coach Phil Bridenbaugh's latest creation. Coach Joe Hartman will come here Saturday with one of the best teams to ever represent Grove City High. They had a bad start and lost their first two games but finally reached their form to defeat Union Township 13-0 and then proceeded to upset Sharpsville 18-0.

Grove City returns to the local schedule after a year's absence. They have graced Ellwood cards for years in the past and each time extended the blue and white to its utmost to win. Most of Ellwood's victories were by one touchdown.

The Ellwood squad is in fine shape and has been practicing faithfully for this contest. According to the workouts held this week Coaches Benedict and Farrare may spring a new line of attack on the Grovers as an experiment. The starting lineup will practically be the same as last week with the exception of Savor and Johnson who will be replaced by Vogt and Barnes at tackles and end respectively.

The Grovers are held in deep respect here and the local coaches are taking no chances. They will start their strongest line-up. The local gridders are anxious to chalk up their first victory and are hoping to do it at the expense of the Hartman men.

The probable line-up:

Ellwood		Grove City
Barnes	L.E.	Smith
Vogt	L.T.	Adams
Paal	L.G.	Gregg
Glover	C.	Richards
Navolio	R.G.	Leon
Pratt	R.T.	Thompson
Welsh (C)	R.E.	Horseman
McCloskey	Q.	Klink
Vandrello	L.H.	Braine
Ott	R.H.	Moore
Luxenberg	F.	Cicero

Shenango Team Playing Mercer

Coach Ed Raney of the Shenango Township High School football team will lead his charges to Mercer this afternoon prepared to give the Mercer team the battle of the season. This is the first game away from home for the Shenango team and they are primed for action after a week's layoff.

Thus far the Shenango team has won every game with ease and Raney wants to keep the slate unmarked. Mercer has a fast team but so has Shenango and the battle this afternoon should be a dandy.

Ryantown Team Ends Successful Baseball Season

Ryantown Team Won 70 Games, Lost 28 And Tied Four During Past Season

Ryantown recently ended a very successful baseball season in which they played a total of one hundred and two games. They won seventy games, tied four, and lost twenty-eight.

Ryantown played more games than any other team in the vicinity. Although unable to hit their stride in the Twilight League, Ryantown showed their real strength by taking four out of seven games from the West Side Tigers of the County League and thereby winning the championship of the West Side.

Dutch Hill led the Ryantown hurlers by winning twenty-one games while losing only five. Chuck Davies also showed well by winning fifteen games. Budd Todd and Joe Herno each turned in a no-hit, no-run masterpiece also. Herno also led the team in home runs with twelve, but Walt Kerr took the hitting laurels by banging the apple hard and often to amass a total of one hundred and four base-hits.

At a later date probably during the coming week the ball players will be guests at a dinner to be held in their honor. There will probably be about seventeen athletes present at the dinner.

Joe Sontag is manager of the team and "Jonesey" Jones is business manager.

Veterans Return To Grover Team For Titan Game

Mike Koma And Saul McCoy Back In Grove City College Lineup This Week

GROVE CITY, Oct 14—Coach Bill Amos is putting plenty of pressure on the Grove City grid squad this week as he sends the 35 players through strenuous work-outs in preparation for the important Westminster game here Saturday. The former Wash-Jeff star is applying stern measure in seeking to arouse the Grovers to the pitch necessary if the Titans are to be given a battle.

Both the backs and linemen are getting attention, since Amos is far from satisfied with the offensive play of the team. Few shifts in the line-up are possible, due to the limited number of experienced gridders but Amos has served notice that the blocking of backs and linemen alike will have to improve, or youngsters will displace the veterans.

Have Real Snap

The stern tactics are showing results, and a definite improvement is noted in the spirit of the squad. Facing certain defeat unless they show more stuff than in the past two games, the Grovers are responding with new snap. The return of Mike Koma, versatile backfield man, and Saul McCoy, veteran tackle, has bolstered the Crimson chances, and it is probable that Bobby Gross, sophomore utility back, will see action against the Titans.

Verne Smith's punting, and the passing of Mike Koma and Art Alexander, is being stressed in the week's drilling. While Smith showed a marked improvement in the last game, Amos has been working him for greater accuracy. With Koma back in the line-up, it is believed that Grove City's air game will again function properly.

Dukes And Geneva Play Night Games

Duquesne Meets Oglethorpe Tonight, Geneva Meets St. Vincents

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—Toppled from its pretentious perch by Pitt last week, Duquesne University has set up plans for another methodical attempt to ascend the gridiron ladder of fame and will start in tonight against Oglethorpe at Forbes field.

Last year the stormy petrels from south of the Mason and Dixon line put up a stubborn scrap, holding the Dukes to a 6-0 verdict. Joe Bach, who scouted the Atlantans, reported the 1932 edition is molded around Ray Walker, sure-footed quarterback, who caused the locals plenty of grief in their previous meeting, and is a much improved club.

Coach Elmer Layden indicated he will start the same eleven men that faced Pitt at the outset, hopeful they will pick up where they left off.

One other game is scheduled for the tri-state district tonight. Geneva will oppose St. Vincents under the floodlights at Beaver Falls. Judging from the Bearcats' performances thus far, Geneva will have to play hard and fast.

Union Is Ready For Tough Game With Mars High

Coach Dave Boyd Has Union Team On Edge For Important Game At Union Field

GAME SATURDAY STARTS AT 2:30

Union High School football team is on edge today. Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock they will stack up against a clever Mars High team at the Union High Field. This is the biggest home game on the schedule for Union and the boys are anxious to win it.

The Union team will finish their training this afternoon with a light signal drill. Morrison is being used at quarterback in place of the injured Captain Walter Sniezek, and has been doing fine work all week. Boczar and Monico will take care of the halfback posts. Phillips a hard hitting fullback will be the fourth man in the Union backfield.

Union In Shape

Coach Boyd is slightly worried about this game. He has been using his second string men as regulars and the varsity boys have been tearing them apart in good shape In the practices this week Boczar has looked the best of any of the backfield men and Coach Boyd is banking on this chap to come through in the Mars game.

Union's big line with Allen, Stockman, Whiting, Kirker, White, Endrees, Georgacz and Rowbottom is going to cause Mars a lot of trouble, is the indication. Mars will not find it easy cracking that stalwart front wall. Rowbottom will be used as an end, but he is a good backfield man. His defensive ability cannot be overlooked.

Mars Is Good

Coach Schade of the Mars team expects his Butler County aggregation to give Union a tough afternoon. Mars will have a big heavy team that will match Union almost man for man. Mars is best on defense, with a rather weak showing so far on the offense. Butler High gave Mars a drubbing last week, but Butler is one of the leading Class A teams this year in the W. P. I. A. L. and really should have made a bigger score on Mars than they did, but Mars fought back with all they had.

The probable starting lineups have been given out by Coaches Boyd and Schade as follows:

Union High		Mars High
Rowbottom	L. E.	Thompson
Stockman	L. T.	Sheridan
Whiting	L. G.	Augustine
Allen	C.	Kerr
White	R. G.	Morrow
Georgacz	R. T.	Huffman
Endrees	R. E.	Dickey
Morrison	Q. B.	Schumacher
Boczar	L. H.	Irwin
Monico	R. H.	Deman
Phillips	F. B.	Kirschler

Referee—Sam Richards, (Grove City.)

Umpire—Ray Nolte, (New Castle High.)

Linesman—Charles "Horse" Gillium, (Grove City.)

Starting Time of game—2:30 o'clock.

Union Township Girls To Convene

First meeting of the girls basketball club of Union township will be held after the football game, Saturday. A good turnout is desired.

SEEK GRID GAME

West Pittsburgh Ranchers football team would like to book games with 145 pound elevens, especially the Tolan A. C., Knox A. C., Union A. C. and Busy Bees. Games can be arranged by calling Francis Cochran, business manager at 11J.

Meet New Castle High Here Tonight

Pictured above is the big Washington high football team that will play New Castle high's "Big Red Hurricane" tonight under the floodlights of Taggart field. Washington last week dusted off a powerful Clairton high team 7 to 6. Both New Castle and Washington have won one class AA conference game. The game scheduled for Pa Newc's domain this evening looks like one of the best of the year. Washington high has a new coach this year, "Billy" Cox, who replaced Hank Day. They are using the Notre Dame system. Washington handed New Castle a licking last year at Taggart field, and they are out to repeat tonight, but Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh and his speedsters are anxiously awaiting the kickoff. Washington high will be followed here tonight by a large contingent of fans. This is one of the most important games of the season in the class AA league and Washington high may prove a stumbling block to New Castle's forward march.

Pitt And Army Game Headlines

Pitt And Army Set For Important Battle At West Point Saturday

CARNEGIE TECH TO PLAY W. & J.

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service
Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Like the dumb radio announcer, who tells all about the game except who won, we are set today to fling ourselves into the alphabet and pick each and every winner in tomorrow's football entertainment except in the outstanding melee.

We mean we know that Fordham is going to mop up Lebanon Valley, Harvard will fatten on Penn State, Southern California will have a field day with Loyola (Los Angeles), Chicago is going to be just a big brute against Little Knox, but who is going to tell Aunt Minnie about the Pittsburgh-Army tilt up at West Point?

Panthers Favored

The Army-Panthers conflict stands out not only because both are high-class outfits, but they happen to be among the few elevens of the country taking on worthy opponents this Saturday.

Columbia can't miss with Virginia, New York University has Georgetown for a victim and Manhattan has St. Thomas.

Over at famed Franklin Field in Philadelphia a sweet afternoon should be had by all and there won't be any heavy growth of underbrush between the chalk lines when Dartmouth and Penn say quits.

Nearby in Palmer stadium Coach Gil Dobie may be on the verge of a relapse, watching his Cornell gang against Fritz Crisler's Princeton team.

Tech And W. & J.

Yale over Brown, Navy over Ohio University, Carnegie over W.-J. and Colgate over LaFayette and other likely winners in the East.

In the mid-west sector the main ballroom will feature Michigan against Ohio State at Columbus.

Purdue should take Wisconsin, Minnesota beat Nebraska and Indiana win from Iowa. Coach Stagg of Chicago says Illinois is better than Northwestern.

Kansas State is elected over Missouri.

Notre Dame And Drake

Notre Dame will see how some new plays work, meeting Drake at South Bend.

And now that we've gone this far, we'll oblige a friend and give you the low-down about that Pitt-Army struggle. Pitt looks the better. The Panthers humbled 'em 2ᵢ to 0 last year and nobody has shouted from the house tops why they can't repeat.

Coach Stagg Is Forced To Quit

Coach Stagg With Chicago University 40 Years Forced To Retire With Old Age

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Amos Alonzo Stagg, the only football coach and director of athletics the University of Chicago has ever had, is retired.

"The grand old man of the midway" who at 70 years can drive a football team with the best of 'em, must step out of the picture quietly at the end of the present season. Stagg's retirement is automatic under a university rule which fixes 70 years as the age limit of full time faculty members.

But the venerable dean of coaches doesn't want to stop.

"According to my present feelings," he said today, "I expect to be good for 15 or 20 years more of active service." I went into athletic work because it offered the largest opportunity for service through contact with young men."

President Robert M. Hutchins has announced Stagg's successor in the post of athletic director as Thomas N. Metcalf, director of athletics at Iowa State College until his resignation Wednesday.

HUNTERS FOR FOWL MUST HAVE STAMP

Hunters who wish to shoot ducks, geese and other migratory waterfowl must have a postmaster stamp a federal permit upon their hunting licenses, as a part of the new federal tax system, it was learned today. This additional permit costs $1 and goes not to the state as does the hunters' fees but to the federal government.

FIND ROMAN RELICS

(International News Service)

DIJON, France—Gallo-Roman remains showing that the Romans had a thermal station and large swimming pool at the source of the River Seine near here, have been discovered by archeologists. Relics of a temple to the goddess Sequana including many statuettes in bronze of deformed cure-seekers, dating apparently from shortly before the Christian era, have also been found.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Exploitation agents of things fistically inclined think up some nice plots to add fire to rivalry, which incidentally means considerable to the box office. F'rinstance there was the Frankie Petrolle-Tony Canzeri fight Wednesday night which ended when Tony knocked the brother of Billy out.

Arrangements had been made for a titular scrap between Tony and Billy Canzoneri. Frankie, a brother was shot into the ring with Tony for the purpose of giving him a hard fight and probably softening him for the championship fight. The bout proved a tune-up for Tony.

Smackie Maxie Rosenbloom, socalled because he slaps more often than he hits direct, gave Jack Redman, a westerner an eastern baptism in the same ring. Redman cuffed out a few boys after he arrived and it was believed he could give Rosenbloom a fight.

But he couldn't. Outside of efforts to land a strong right hand he didn't go places except in the direction of the gloves that Maxie threw. Rosenbloom had no trouble outboxing Jack and threw some hard punches after Redman had got rough in a clinch.

For consistency there are three fighters in this district who can be given the plam. They are Frankie Bojarski of Erie, Teddy Yarosz of Monaca and Mickey Duris, formerly of Johnstown, now of Cleveland. Bojarski and Duris are lighties and Yarosz a welterweight.

Frankie has lost only one bout and Duris has been a hard, socking battler of the pleasing type. Yarosz has been beaten only once and as a result the trio are esconced safely in the fancy of fans. They're not worried over winter fights.

Pete Boy, Ellwood City welterweight intends to turn professional and as Al Hefferan of Oil City turned pro' recently it is anticipated the 150 pounders will soon show the fans they rank alongside of pro boys of their weight.

Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds, said yesterday the club is in no hurry to pluck a manager and among those who have been mentioned as a possible manager are: Donie Bush, Billy Southworth, Hans Wagner, Dan Howley, former manager, may buy part of the Toronto club.

Miss Helen Hicks of Hewlett, L. I. sank a 20 foot putt on the twentieth hole yesterday to defeat Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia and win the women's championship in the fall Hot Springs golf tourney. Meanwhile George Flinn, Pittsburgh and Thomas Hulme, Philadelphia, advanced to the men's finals. Flinn beat William Platt, Philadelphia 5 and 3 and Hulme had to go 22 holes to nose out Stanley Tone of Milwaukee.

Joe McCarthy, signed recently for three more years as manager of the Yankees, world champions, hopes to bolster his roster. He will deal for George Earnshaw of the A's whom report says is on the market for $50,000. Connie Mack, it is said, doesn't like to do business with a pennant contender and may sell Earnshaw to a second division club.

Kid Chocolate stopped Lew Feldman in the twelfth round at New York and Ben Jeby stopped Paul Pirrone in six rounds.....Southern Conference executive committee has ruled Nollie Feltz a professional. He played fullback for Tulane....Hank Mills rode three winners on Jamaica track Thursday....This will be the last year Major Ralph Sasses will coach Army.

Suits For $20,000 Filed As A Result Of Auto Accident

Leroy And John Crawford Plaintiffs In Case Against Dairy Company

Two suits against the Liberty Dairy Cartage Company of Ohio were filed at the prothonotary's office this morning. The plaintiffs are Leroy Crawford and John Harold Crawford, by their guardian, George W. Garnett. Damages in the amount of $10,000 is asked in each case or a total of $20,000.

In the statement of claim it is alleged that the plaintiffs were riding southward on the New Castle-Wampum road with Howard Wood. A truck of the Liberty Dairy Cartage Company, driven by J. J. Hunter, was coming north.

When near the Piedmont farm, south of Willow Grove, the truck swerved and collided with the car driven by Wood. Leroy and John Crawford, were thrown out of the Wood car and were seriously injured about the head and face. It is claimed that as a result they were confined to the house for a long time and that their injuries are of a permanent nature.

It is alleged that Hunter was intoxicated, and that he was driving the truck at a high and reckless speed.

School Board Has Regular Meeting

Monthly Business Is Transacted In School Rooms Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 14.—An interesting check-up on the new bookkeeping system installed by the board of education for the Ellwood City school district recently was reported by the board at its regular meeting in the school rooms last night.

The building committee, of which Dr. H. E. Helling is chairman, reported that work in the schools to repair or improve them has been rapidly progressing. The coal bin at the Hartman school is nearing completion. Much necessary work has been completed in the other schools also. Upon recommendation of the committee the board will advertise for bids to repair a furnace in one of the schools.

The emergency lighting system in the Lincoln school will be revised as specified by the new state inspector so that it can meet all tests.

A request of the faculty to use the Lincoln gymnasium for a place of recreation during the winter months was granted by the board. The board accepted the recommendation of the ground committee, headed by H. W. Smith, to make additional improvements in the Lincoln school. They also plan to install another light at the north end of the Lincoln building in an effort to cut down mischief about the Lincoln and Hartman schools by youngsters.

Supt. V. R. DeLong took this opportunity last night to commend on the splendid cooperation given the school children by the local Community Service league which has enabled them to attend school.

It as decided by unanimous opinion that Supt. DeLong should attend an educational conference of district superintendents on Nov. 9 and 10 at Harrisburg at which time one of the chief items of business will be a discussion on some proposed legislation to be done at the approaching session of the state legislature. The first steps in changing the school code will be made at this time.

The superintendent also gave a report to the board of his work for the past month in the schools. He visited 74 classes where he watched the work of pupils and then later held conferences with teachers. He reported that the enrollment for night school here has increased and is now 165.

In a communication to the superintendent, Fire Chief H. T. Plante reports that the drills conducted in the local schools as part of the program in the observance of Fire Prevention Week were very satisfactory.

Use of Lincoln field for two local independent football teams was granted. The game is to be played on Oct. 22.

No Developments In Campbell Case

Pittsburgh Authorities State That There Has Been No Results

Pittsburgh detective headquarters today stated that there was no new developments regarding the case of Officer Clarence Campbell, murdered May 23 by one of a group of bandits, who stole $23,000 from messengers of the Mahoning Trust company. Efforts on the part of local witnesses and officials to identify some of the seven men held by the Pittsburgh police failed of results and nothing further was done.

While the bandits were traveling in a maroon colored car here, there is some little newspaper effort, it is said, to connect up the affair here with a green buick car held in Chicago and in turn with the men under arrest at Pittsburgh, but nothing definite has been accomplished.
